JAPS INVADE NEW GUINEA BAY

STRUCK BY CAR AT LEXINGTON, GIRL, 4, DIES

Barbara Ann Linton Becomes 11th Traffic Fatality In County For '42.

RAN INTO CAR MONDAY

Child Fails To Come Out of Coma After Being Hurt; Funeral Friday.

The death of a four-year-old Lexington child at Mansfield General hospital Wednesday night marked the second traffic fatality in the Mansfield area within two days and raised Richland county's 1942 traffic toll to 11. At this time last year, 19 persons had died in traffic accidents in the county.

This date last Year—19

Barbara Ann Linton, the victim, was injured Monday afternoon when she ran into the side of a car while crossing the street in front of the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Linton in Lexington. She was bound for her grandmother's house on the opposite side.

Peter P. Franzen, 39, of Columbus, driver of the car, was not held. Witnesses told state highway patrolmen that the child had waited on a south-bound car to pass and then ran into Franzen's car as it approached from the opposite direction.

The same night a Dayton salesman, Richard P. McKain, 46, was fatally injured when his car plunged off the highway six miles west of Mansfield on U. S. Route 30-S.

The Linton child never regained consciousness after the accident. Death was caused by a skull fracture.

In addition to her parents, she is survived by her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Linton of Lexington and Mr. and Mrs. Homer Zeigler of Mansfield, R. D. 6.

Funeral services will be conducted at the Harry Linton home Friday at 2 p. m. by Rev. G. M. Sauder. Burial will be made in the Lexington cemetery.

Arrests continued on the highways yesterday as state patrolmen "cracked down" on speeders and other traffic violators.

Roger A. Minnich, Elyria, was fined $50 and costs in municipal court today for operating with fictitious license plates on U. S. route 42. Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch suspended $40 of the fine.

Both Melvin Clark of Huron and John M. Ondik of Cleveland, arrested for speeding on route 42, posted bond for $16.30 and signed waivers for their appearance in court.

ENJOINS KAISER

Federal Court Halts Purchase of 'Hot Steel.'

CLEVELAND—(INS)—An injunction, preventing Henry J. Kaiser, west coast "miracle" ship builder from buying "hot" steel, was issued today by Federal Judge Robert N. Wilkin in U. S. district court in Cleveland.

The order came as a result of the investigation launched by the Office of Price Administration into the activities of the Higgins ship building yards in New Orleans. Hearing on the proceedings was set for Sept. 5.

The OPA probe of the steel black market led to an investigation of the books of the Builders Structural Steel company. OPA investigators charge that a branch of the Kaiser company, Inc., in Cleveland purchased steel at above ceiling prices from the Builders Structural Steel company.

100 ARRESTED

FBI, Local Police Seize Axis Sympathizer Suspects.

NEWARK, N. J.—(INS)—In a series of surprise raids throughout New Jersey F. B. I. agents and local police today seized more than 100 men and women suspected of possessing Axis sympathies and were understood to have confiscated some contraband.

MORE SCRAP ASKED

CLEVELAND—(AP)—Dealers in scrap iron and steel were asked today to boost their shipments to steel mills during the next six months by one-third over their monthly averages in the first half of 1942.

RAPS BRICKER PENSION PLAY

M'Sweeney Questions Political Motive in Pension Boost Before Election.

COLUMBUS — (U.P.) — John McSweeney, Democratic nominee for governor, today issued a campaign statement implying that the Republican state administration's announcement of an increase for Ohio's old age pensioners was a political move.

"I am vitally interested in the old age pension system and deeply regret the attitude the present governor has taken relative to it," McSweeney's statement said.

He directed four questions to Gov. John W. Bricker concerning the pension increases announced yesterday by the state welfare department. He asked:

1. What change in the financial condition in the state of Ohio has occurred or is occurring for the last three months of the year that

Peddler Hunted After Attempted Attack on Woman

Mansfield police were today seeking a young potato peddler who attempted to attack a St. Clair street woman in her home yesterday.

The woman, a housewife, told police that the man, who was about 24 years old, returned to her home yesterday afternoon, after first inquiring for her husband before noon concerning a deal to haul a load of potatoes from Lexington to Columbus.

According to the housewife, the stranger asked if he could step in to talk about the deal.

"He got smart right away," she said and chased me into the front of the house where he threw me to the floor. He ran away when I screamed for help."

Corliss King, a neighbor, told police he saw a youth run from the house and drive away in an auto which pulled a small trailer. He gave the police the license number of the vehicle.

THIS IS MORE LIKE SUMMER!

Mercury Climbs to Level That's a Bit Above Average.

It was summer again today—even on the thermometer.

The mercury moved back up to 80 again yesterday for the first time since Saturday and the average reading of 69.5 for the past 24 hours was one degree above normal for late August. At noon today the temperature was 76. The low this morning was a comfortable 59.

It will continue to warm up this afternoon and tonight and there may be showers by tonight, the weatherman said.

KING RETURNS

Goes to London For Funeral of Duke on Kent.

LONDON — (AP) — King George VI, in naval uniform, and Queen Elizabeth, wearing black, returned to London today for the funeral of the king's youngest brother, the Duke of Kent, who was killed Tuesday in an air crash on active service for the RAF.

A special train also brought back another royal brother, the Duke of Gloucester, and his duchess, for the funeral which probably will be held at Windsor. A small bareheaded crowd gathered at the station when the Gloucesters' train arrived.

Possibility that the cause of the crash might be learned was seen, meanwhile, in the announcement that one of 15 persons aboard had survived. Lieut. Andrew Jack, 24-year-old Scotsman, was found stumbling dazedly around the site where the ship crashed into a Scottish mountain. He said he was thrown clear.

REVIVING PLAN OF 18-19 DRAFT

Congressmen Plan to Consider Lowering of Draftee Age In Near Future.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — New draft legislation to make 18 and 19-year-old youths eligible for armed service topped a program mapped out today for the waning months of the 77th congress by Chairman Sabath (D., Ill.) of the house rules committee.

"In all likelihood," Sabath said in an interview, "congress will be asked this session to permit the drafting of 18 and 19-year-olds and will give its approval."

In his opinion, he added, the 18-19 group contains "the finest fighting material available."

Barring any congressional repercussions from President Roosevelt's Labor day cost of living message, the only other subjects that will be considered at this session, if Sabath has his way, are taxes, senate changes in the service men's vote-by-mail bill, a new appropriation for defense housing, and a few relatively minor bills.

"There is no reason why, between the time we go back into regular session early next month and the middle of October, we cannot dispose of everything," Sabbath said.

As far as Sabath is concerned, the rules committee will "sit on" proposals for investigation of the federal communications committee, for subjecting labor unions to the anti-racketeering act, for giving farmers loans up to 100 per cent of the parity price of their basic commodities, and for relieving war contractors from payment of state and local taxes on supplies used in connection with war contracts.

START MOVING CHURCH DEBRIS

Workmen Use Power Shovel to Clean Up Fire Ruins.

The old First Congregational church site on Park avenue west is being cleared of the brick left on the lot after the edifice was leveled by fire last February.

R. O. Darling and Son began operations with a power shovel yesterday and the work will be completed probably by the end of the week.

Any building plans that the congregation had for a new church have been tabled until after the war.

GYPS BUSY

Pensioners Warned of Pair Who Rob for 'Defense.'

COLUMBUS—(INS)—Ohioans receiving aid for the aged today were warned by Karl R. Babb, acting chief of the state division of aid for the aged, that a man and woman falsely representing themselves as employes of the division were visiting aid recipients and demanding money on the pretext that it was needed for "civilian defense."

Babb disclosed that the pair had operated in Gallia, Meigs, and Scioto counties and recently shifted to Athens, Hocking and Coshocton counties. The couple has demanded and received sums ranging up to $10 and on one occasion, took 35 cents from a blind woman, aid officials said.

"No person has been authorized by the state division or any of its county offices to collect contributions from recipients for any cause whatsoever," Babb said.

TAKES MEN 50

Army Raises Enlistment Age to 50, Stimson Reveals.

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Secretary of War Stimson disclosed today that the army has decided to accept enlistments of men 45 to 50 years of age who have particular skills or aptitudes for army service.

They will be assigned to service command or other army or war department units where they can release younger enlisted men for general military service. Previously the top age limit for enlistment was 45.

Holds Up Check for Three Cruisers, Calls Deal 'Jumble'

City Auditor Paul Kelley was today withholding payment for the city's new police cruisers on the grounds that the purchase was "jumbled" by the administration in making no provision at the proper time for the disposal of the old cruisers.

Kelley sent a letter to Mayor W. J. Locke saying that the transaction "seems to be quite jumbled up" and asking "Do you honestly believe the interests of the city are sufficiently protected?"

Kelley based his objections on what he called irregular procedure followed by city council in authorizing the purchase of the cruisers.

Although council authorized the purchase of three new cruisers at its meeting on June 16, it neglected to provide for the sale of the old cruisers.

The administration, seemingly believing that it had been given the authority to sell the old cruisers, advertised for bids for the sale of them on July 24 along with bids for the purchase of the new cruisers.

On August 4, council, having discovered its error, passed another resolution authorizing the sale of the old cruisers. But this came too late to make the original bids

REVEALS JAPS DENIED FOOD TO AMERICANS

Writer Says Treatment of Diplomats Unequaled In Civilized History.

GREW PROTESTS OFTEN

Makes Complaints on Eleven Indignities Including Delay of Medicine.

(Editor's Note: The manager of the former United Press bureau in Tokyo, who arrived home Tuesday aboard the diplomatic exchange ship, Gripsholm after a long internment in Japan, discloses in the following dispatch the indignities to which American diplomats were subjected by the Japanese after Pearl Harbor.)

By ROBERT BELLAIRE
(UP Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK—Japanese treatment of the American diplomatic mission to Japan was such that Ambassador Joseph C. Grew protested scores of times.

In one, made Dec. 21, two weeks after Pearl Harbor, he informed the Japanese through the Swiss legation that the American diplomats were being treated in a manner "unparalleled in the history of intercourse between civilized nations."

This was in line with the others, one of which said that the members of the United States embassy were being treated "worse than criminals and prisoners of war who at least are given food."

Eugene H. Dooman, embassy counselor, protested to a Japanese foreign office representative Dec. 18 that there was "nothing in the history of international relations which could even approach this instance of savage treatment of public officials."

"The record of behavior of Japanese policy will remain a blot to shame Japan for the next hundred years," Dooman said.

During the first months of internment Grew protested because uniformed Japanese police swarmed daily through the private apartments of the diplomats, even peering through the windows of the ambassador's private quarters and attempting to roam the rooms despite the fact that Mrs. Grew was ill.

Other indignities he protested included:

1. Failure of the Japanese to provide any food whatsoever despite promises and the embassy's acute need for outside supplies.

2. Receipt by the embassy of

Predicts Iowa to Have Big Part In Attacks on Enemy

BROOKLYN NAVY YARD, NEW YORK —(U.P.)— The battleship Iowa, mightiest dreadnaught in the fast growing fleet, was launched today, seven months ahead of schedule, perhaps "to take part in that final climactic operation of all the war—the invasion of the continent of Europe or the island of Japan."

The prediction of the Iowa's ultimate career came from Ralph A. Bard, assistant secretary of the navy, who spoke a few minutes before the 45,000-ton battleship slid into the East river, christened by Mrs. Ho Browne Wallace, wife of the vice-president, a native of Iowa.

"Here is a ship," Bard said, "that can keep up with the swiftest task forces. Here is a ship that can fire faster and farther than any other ship afloat. It may even take part in that final climactic military operation of all the war—the invasion of the continent of Europe or the island of Japan. It is a tool with which America's future will be written on the pages of history.

"The Japanese and the Germans have built stealthily and they have built well," Bard continued, "but I can guarantee that they have never fashioned such a weapon as this ship . . ."

JAUNDICE DROPS

Stimson Says Cases of Disease In Army Falls Off Sharply.

WASHINGTON —(INS)— There has been a sharp drop in the number of yellow jaundice cases in the army, Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson stated today.

"From the peak week of June 14 to 20 when there were 2,997 cases," he said, "the latest figures for the week of Aug. 9 to 15 show only 166."

Suffer Heavy Losses Under Allied Blows

Foe Still Trying To Penetrate Air Defense Of Solomons.

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON—A powerful Japanese naval striking force today was still trying to break through American air defenses in the Solomons despite the forced withdrawal of another enemy fleet composed of transports and their warship escorts.

Although not in the habit of making optimistic statements while a battle is in progress, the navy said the results of the Japanese counter-attacks to date "are encouraging." The battle has been raging since last Sunday when the Japanese began their attempt to retake positions captured by U. S. Marines.

The striking force, previously reported to include battleships, cruisers and aircraft carriers, was last reported trying to approach the southeastern group of the Solomon islands from the northeastward but many of its most potent units have been damaged by American bombers.

The other force, composed of transports, cruisers and destroyers, was approaching from the northward toward Guadalcanal—main island in the southeastern Solomons—but was forced to withdraw under a hail of steel from American land-based bombers.

Already at least 13 Japanese ships have been damaged, many of them severely. Some may prove total losses. In addition, 33 enemy planes were shot down while American air losses were given as only four.

Long-range "flying fortress" bombers of the army and aircraft-based bombing planes which attacked the striking force, hit two Japanese carriers, including a large one, a battleship and "several" cruisers.

Land-based marine corps and naval aircraft, including dive bombers, have been smashing at the warship-escorted Japanese

Enemy Barges and Transport Sunk, Two Warships Are Damaged.

(By United Press)

SOMEWHERE IN AUSTRALIA—Japan has landed an invasion force at Milne bay on the southeast tip of New Guinea in a desperate attempt to create a diversion from its threatened disastrous defeat in the southern Solomon islands, it was announced today.

A small enemy force effected a landing under a ferocious airplane attack in which Gen. Douglas MacArthur's planes sank a troop transport, heavily damaged and probably sank a cruiser, damaged a destroyer, destroyed six landing barges and heavily and effectively bombed and machine gunned supplies and troops on the beach.

Fires were left blazing among the supply dumps.

A spokesman for Gen. MacArthur announced that Allied troops quietly dispatched to the area in anticipation of just such an enemy move, already were in contact with the enemy.

A few hours after MacArthur's daily communique announced the Japanese landing, it was announced that MacArthur had spent Tuesday with an American unit in the field, making a surprise troop inspection. No details were revealed.

(This might indicate some important development to come as the announcement was an unusual one.)

The landing extended the battle zone off eastern Australia to a front approximately 750 miles from the Guadalcanal area of the Solomons westward to the tip of New Guinea.

Announcement by the United States navy at Washington yesterday that results in the Solomons so far were encouraging, gave rise to new hope here that in their attempt to oust the marines from their positions in the islands the Japanese faced the likelihood of a disaster much worse than those

RETREAT: Germans Fall Back Before New Soviet Offensive

(By Associated Press)

MOSCOW—While Stalingrad battled doggedly for its life, Russia's central front armies slashed at the German-held Rzhev-Vyazma railway 120 miles west of Moscow today and fought for footholds within the streets of Rzhev in a newly announced offensive that has pushed back a Nazi salient 25 or 30 miles.

(Reuters, British news agency, reported the Germans were throwing fresh reserves into the savage battle for Rzhev but were compelled to retreat with heavy losses as the Red army thrust westward.)

Although the situation of Stalingrad, industrial city on the lower Volga, was conceded to be critical, the Russians described it as "no worse" and counterattacks were developed.

German gains in the central Caucasus, however, drew expressions of concern. A tanked task force fought its way to Mozdok, 30 miles east of the Prokhladnenski battlegrounds and a jumping-off point for thrusts both toward the oil fields of Grozny, 55 miles to the east, and to the Georgian military terminal at Ordzhonikidze, 40 miles to the south.

The 15-day-old Russian drive on the central front was intended both to eliminate a long-standing German threat to Moscow in the Rzhev - Gzhatsk - Vyazma triangle and provide a diversion against the German offensive to the south.

"In another sector," the midday comunique announced," our troops destroyed three heavy Ger-

EYE-WITNESS: Sees Bombs Smash Jap Center at Lashio

By KARL ESKELUND
(UP Staff Correspondent)

WITH THE UNITED STATES ARMY AIR FORCE IN CHINA, Aug. 26—9 P. M.—(UP)—(Delayed)—United States Army bomber and fighter planes in one of their greatest raids of the war attacked the great Japanese strategic center of Lashio in northern Burma today.

They left Japanese military buildings including troop barracks aflame and destroyed the only four Japanese planes they found on the big Lashio airdrome.

Col. Caleb V. Haynes of North Carolina and Col. Robert L. Scott of Macon, Ga., commanding the United States bomber and pursuit forces, led in person a devastating raid of which this correspondent was an enthralled witness.

I rode with one of our planes as we took off from a secret China base and flew south through heavy rain high over the old Burma road which twisted beneath us like a yellow snake.

We swept in over Lashio just as the sun broke from the clouds and before my eyes our bombs slipped down in the bright sunshine and exploded amidst the Japanese buildings on the ground.

Intelligence reports had revealed the concentration of 10,000 new Japanese shock troops at Lashio for an offensive on Kunming, at the other end of the Lashio-Kunming Burma road, and the United States Army Air Force went into action.

While the great bombing planes

OLSON RIVAL POLLS HEAVY PRIMARY VOTE

Runs on Two Tickets, Beats GOP Contenders By 100-to-One.

(By International News Service)

SAN FRANCISCO—Capturing a significant popular vote, State Attorney General Earl Warren, a Republican, today emerged from the California primary elections as a strong contender in November for the post held by Gov. Culbert L. Olson, the state's first Democratic governor in 40 years.

Warren's primary campaign was on a "non-partisan" basis. He filed on both Democratic and Republican party tickets, taking the Republican party nomination by nearly a 100 to 1 majority over his nearest opponents. Olson won the Democratic nomination for governor, but as returns continued to come in, Warren was running a close second on the Democratic slate.

Warren's popular votes on both the Republican and Democratic ballots totaled far in excess of the total votes cast for Olson, who ran only on the Democratic ticket.

Roy G. Owens, head of the old "ham and eggs" movement which once polled a heavy vote in the state, received only 27,976 as a candidate for governor on the Democratic ticket.

A light vote, less than 50 per cent of the total 3,751,296 registered vote, featured the California primary as citizens went to the polls to choose candidates for 111 state offices and 23 congressional posts.

The entire slate of 18 incumbent congressmen running for re-election appeared assured of capturing party nominations, and some cross-filing, which is permitted in California, captured both major party nominations, precluding November runoffs.

A feature of the congressional race was the contest between Will Rogers, jr., son of the late Will Rogers, and Congressman Leland M. Ford of the 16th district. Rogers and Ford filed on both Republican and Democratic tickets, with Rogers capturing the Democratic nomination, and Ford taking the G. O. P. nomination.

In addition, Californians nominated party candidates for two vacant congressional seats and three new representatives in congress made possible by reapportionment of lower house representation based on the 1940 census.

SAYS SEVENTH IS HARD YEAR

Judge Warns Married Couples of Critical Time.

LONDON—(U.P.)—The end of the seventh year is the critical time in a marriage, according to Justice Henn Collins.

He was presiding in the London Divorce court when an RAF officer was granted a divorce because of the adultery of his wife.

The judge was not convinced by the woman's account that her husband had, by any action of his, jeopardized the marriage She had given evidence that she was unhappy. She had detailed various incidents. But there had not been any corroboration.

"I have no doubt that this marriage would have endured," he said, "but for the calamitous intervention of the co-respondent at what is rather a critical time in a marriage—about the end of the seventh year.

FOE CONTINUES STRUGGLE FOR SOLOMON ISLES

Tries to Penetrate Defenses Despite Withdrawal of One Enemy Fleet.

transport fleet and so far have: Left a cruiser and a destroyer burning, dive-bombed another destroyer, damaged four other unidentified ships and set fire to a transport which was abandoned by the enemy.

There was no certainty that the withdrawal of the transport force was permanent, particularly since the striking force is still in action. The Japanese have already made it clear that they are willing to gamble with high stakes to retake the strategically important islands.

So far it appears that only American air power has engaged the Japanese and that the American surface fleet is being held in reserve should the remnants of the powerful enemy force manage a break-through.

Despite its optimism, the navy was far from ready to proclaim a victory for the United States.

"It is still too early to estimate the outcome of the battle at sea being fought off the Solomon islands," said the last navy communique, "but reports to date reveal that our forces at Guadalcanal are holding their positions in the face of strong enemy thrusts and in each action have inflicted heavy damage on the attacking Japanese forces."

Guadalcanal apparently is the main objective of the enemy counter-attack because the Japanese had established air fields on that island which are now being used to good advantage by marine and navy fliers.

The American positions on Guadalcanal have received excellent protection from fighters based on the island. The navy characterized the performance of these fighters as "outstanding." Fighter pilots accounted for 21 enemy planes during a raid on Guadalcanal last Surday. On Tuesday, they shot down seven out of 16 two-motored bombers and five of 12 escorting "Zero" fighters.

As additional information on the battle becomes available, it is becoming more evident that the Japanese are employing much the same tactics as in the Midway engagement. There they used a striking force and a transport fleet, each approaching from different directions. But both units were intercepted by American aircraft and dispersed with heavy losses.

Tokyo Gives Version Of Battle Losses

TOKYO (From Japanese Broadcasts)—(AP)—Japan has lost one destroyer sunk and a small aircraft carrier damaged in the renewed battle of the Solomon islands, imperial headquarters announced today.

(An Italian broadcast in the French language, the same in every other detail as Tokyo's, mentioned damage to several small Japanese aircraft carriers. A Berlin broadcast was first understood to have said one of the Japanese carriers was sunk but this was erroneous.)

It said the United States losses, all inflicted by air attack, were:

On heavy aircraft carrier of a new type heavily damaged;

Another, smaller carrier damaged;

A battleship of the Pennsylvania class damaged.

The communique listed these casualties for both sides since Aug. 24 in an air-sea encounter east of the Solomon islands which it called "the second battle of the Solomons."

Calm Returns To Egypt's Battleline

CAIRO — (INS) — Comparative calm settled over the Egyptian desert battleground today after the flurry of activity which ended a month's lull in the fighting.

The assault on the center of the line by New Zealanders and native Maoris was described as a raid rather than a full-fledged attack.

An Italian division holding the Axis lines was said to have retreated in terror before the screaming Maoris who attacked with bayonets.

Heavy Allied air raids were extended to Axis bases as far away as Greece and Crete when big American long-range bombers attacked enemy shipping in Suda bay and the Corinth canal.

RESUME WORK

Employes Go Back To Jobs at Oil Refineries.

EAST CHICAGO, Ind. —(AP)— Striking workers agreed to return to work today at three oil refineries and a loading terminal in the Calumet district after they were told by a federal labor conciliator that the government considered the stoppage of high octane gasoline production "a very critical threat" to the war effort.

The conciliator, William G. Murray, said the men agreed to return at midnight "without any qualification" pending resumption of negotiations.

LORAIN —(U P)— Lorain will honor its war heroes—living and dead—at a three-day celebration beginning tomorrow.

Admiral Ernest J. King, commander-in-chief of the United States fleet who was born at Lorain Nov. 23, 1878, will dedicate a shaft in honor of those in the country's service on Sunday.

It will be his first visit home since being named head of the fleet on Dec. 20, 1941. Lt. Mickey Cochrane's Great Lakes Naval Training Station baseball team will play a Lorain all-star team Sunday.

JAPS INVADING NEW GUINEA BAY

suffered in the battles of the Coral sea and Midway.

In China, the Chinese army was approaching air bases only 1,300 miles from Tokyo and 1,000 from the vitally important Osaka-Kobe-Nagoya industrial area—within easy range of United States heavy bombing planes.

Japan was taking its biggest blows of the war, and the enemy war lords had been expected to try at any cost to retrieve their position.

The attack on southeastern New Guinea therefore had been expected as at least one diversional attempt.

MacArthur's planes detected on Tuesday a small enemy convoy off the Trobriand islands, 210 miles from the Japanese Buna-Gona base on the north coast of New Guinea and about 140 miles from the southeast tip of the island

The planes attacked at once and destroyed a gunboat and damaged two transports

Tuesday night this battered convoy reached the southeast tip of New Guinea.

Under a constant attack by Allied planes from great flying fortresses to fighters, the enemy gained a precarious foothold on the muddy, rainswept shores of Milne bay, 250 miles down the coast from the Allied advanced base at Port Moresby on the south coast, 200 miles from the enemy Buna-Gona base on the north coast and 750 miles west of the southern Solomons.

MacArthur's planes attacked despite almost impossible weather. The heavy bombers, attacking at daringly low level to get better visibility in the sheet-like rain, sank a transport, damaged a cruiser and damaged a destroyer.

FARM UNION?

Lewis Seeks To Organize All Rural Labor in Five States.

UTICA, N Y.—(AP)—A prediction that John L. Lewis, United Mine Workers president and former C. I. O. chief, plans a union for all farm labor in the nation came today as absorption of a New York City milkshed producers' group by District 50 of the UMW was formally ratified.

The Dairy Farmers union, organized in 1936 and once claiming about 25,000 members in New York, Pennsylvania and Vermont, was voted out of existence "as soon as practical" last night by 150 delegates to its annual fall convention. The DFU's general organization committee in February voted to affiliate with the United Dairy Farmers, a District 50 unit.

Meanwhile, Herbert W. Voorhees of Hopewell, N. J., president of Free Farmers, Incorporated, said in a speech at New York last night that Lewis will launch within a few weeks, possibly within 30 days, a gigantic organization drive among farm workers in Michigan, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Washington and New York.

WOULD GUARD SHARE-RIDERS

Henderson Asks Insurance Firms Protect Policyholders.

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Price Administrator Leon Henderson today asked all companies writing automobile insurance to protect their policyholders participating in ride-sharing plans.

"Since participation by car owners is in the interest of the war effort," Henderson wrote the companies, "the Office of Price Administration believes participating car owners should lose no part of the coverage afforded them by their autombile liability insurance (bodily injury and property damage.)"

Some companies, Henderson said, have construed liability policies written by them on private cars to be unaffected by bona fide participation in ride-sharing plans, even though they involved agreements to share expenses.

were not apparent at the beginning of the year?

2. After figures have been made public by Joseph T. Ferguson, present auditor of state during the past year and a half or more, why couldn't the old age pensioners have benefited for these increases even during a portion of 1941 and all of 1942?

3. Are the pension increases to stop at the end of December, 1942?

4. Why is Governor Bricker placing this executive order into effect just three weeks prior to the general election, Nov. 2, when he is the third term candidate for governor of Ohio?

The state welfare department had announced that increases for most of the 139,000 aged persons would become effective with October payments. It was estimated that the average monthly payment would be raised from $24.25 to about $27.

McSweeney was state welfare director when the old age pension system was established.

U. S. SHIP SUNK

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The navy announced today that a medium-sized United States merchant vessel was torpedoed and sunk by an enemy submarine in the Caribbean area early this month. Survivors have been landed at an east coast port.

Holds Up Check for Three Cruisers, Calls Deal 'Jumble'

legal and new bids on the old cruisers were asked last week. These will not be opened until Tuesday.

Meanwhile, the administration went ahead with its own arrangement of the matter, signing a contract with the Mohican Chevrolet company for the purchase of three new cruisers and trading in the old cars

When representatives of the Mohican Chevrolet company appeared at the municipal building yesterday to collect their $3,105.39 for the three new cruisers, Kelley refused to pay until the bids have been opened on the sale of the old ones next Tuesday.

Kelley said that he refused to pay for the cruisers, until it is learned what disposition will be made of the old cruisers. The cars are now at the Mohican agency. City Solicitor Leslie K Wagner, who says the whole affair was a "tactical error" on the part of the administration, said he recommended this course of action to Kelley.

Chevrolet agency representatives threatened suit in common pleas court or revocation of original bids when it developed that they would not receive their money until the outcome of the bidding on the old cruisers is learned.

In a letter to Mayor W. J. Locke, Auditor Kelley said the transaction "seems to be quite jumbled up, inasmuch as you originally entertained bids for the sale of certain autos at the time you received bids for the purchase of certain new replacement vehicles. Perhaps certain police equipment has been transferred to the new machines which might decrease the sale price of the older equipment, at the receiving of bids at a belated date.

"Do you honestly believe the interests of the city are sufficiently protected to justify the payment for the several new cars prior to receiving fresh bids on the old cars? This office, in the interests of the city, deems it advisable to defer payment on the above until satisfactory complete contracts are properly in effect on the sale of the old cars."

Kelley's reference to "equipment" meant the bullet-proof glass which was taken off the old cruisers and installed on the new ones.

PARADE DELAYED

Shelby Postpones Demonstration of Civil Defense Strength.

SHELBY — Mobilization of Shelby's home defense units and a parade of the city's civilian defense strength which had been scheduled for next Saturday have been postponed indefinitely, the committee in charge of arrangements had announced today.

The celebration was called off when it was learned that army mechanized equipment which the committee had planned to use in the parade would not be available Saturday.

A possibility was seen that the parade and mobilization may be held at a later date if the equipment is available.

The Mansfield American Legion Cadets and organizations from nearby cities had planned to participate in the ceremonies nian tanks and killed about 400 enemy officers and men. Booty was captured and prisoners were taken."

The army newspaper Red Star declared Soviet vanguards had reached the Rzhev-Vyazma railway, a Nazi north-south supply line 120 miles west of Moscow and that heavily fortified Rzhev was under attack.

While this action developed on a 70-mile front, the Russians admitted the Germans had lanced 30 miles closer to the Grozny oil fields in the central Caucasus

The situation along the 1,375-mile battlefront extending from north of Rzhev to Mozdok was pictured as follows:

West and northwest of Moscow: Troops of Gen. Gregory Zhukov and Col Gen. Ivan Konev sought three immediate objectives, Rzhev, 130 miles northwest of Moscow; Gzhatsk, 95 miles west of the capital, and Vyazma, 140 miles southwest.

Rzhev: The Russians edged forward into the northern district of the city, meeting stubborn Nazi resistance in street fighting.

Sychevka, 20 miles south of Rzhev: Red army units which drove through Zubtsov reached the rail line connecting Rzhev and Vyazma and are hammering at the city's gates.

Gzhatsk: The Russians crossed the Gzhatsk river and drove into fresh reinforced Germans. Latest dispatches from this general area said the Russians were fighting to win back a number of populated places, all heavily fortified.

Voronezh: Street battle continued in an unspecified populated place south of Voronezh. German counterattacks in two separate sectors along the west bank of the Don were repulsed

Stalingrad: Northwest of the city a defense ring of steel guarding the steel metropolis held firm against the repeated attacks of Nazi tanks and the battering of tons of bombs. Dispatches reported that the Germans wedged into Soviet defenses in some places but that the situation was under control.

Southwest of Stalingrad: Reinforced Russian positions held off tremendous attacks of tanks and dive bombers.

In the Caucasus south of Krasnodar: The Germans, seeking to cut off the Red army's road to the Black sea, launched new attacks, but Russian defenses held. Red Star reported a large scale fight for an unspecified populated point in this area and said the Germans were trying to penetrate through valleys to trap Russian advance forces.

Sees Opening of Western Front

CANADIAN MILITARY HEADQUARTERS IN BRITAIN—(AP) - Lieut. Gen. Andrew G. L. McNaughton, commander in chief of Canadian forces, today predicted the opening of a western European front, declaring powerful Allied armies "will have to cross the English channel" to win the war.

The Allies can progress from Commando operations to "larger" attacks, he said.

(McNaughton is among the several generals mentioned as a possible Allied commander in chief.)

Extensive preparations necessary for the Dieppe raid of last week—which was largely a Canadian show—do not rule out a series of such operations, McNaughton added.

"It's like industrial production," he explained. "Once the prototype is completed the rest is relatively easy."

Gravely considering the question of a second front in Europe, McNaughton said, "you've only to look at a geography. There are powerful British and Canadian armies in the United Kingdom.

"Our great ally (America) also has a powerful army here

"Anyone who thinks we are going to sit here in back of that ditch (the English channel) has another think coming."

To win this war, the Allies will have "to cross the channel and fight their way through the beaches," he asserted

Berliners Flee As Red Plane Appears

LONDON—(U P)—Russian bombing planes sent Berliners racing for shelters last night as air raid sirens shrieked, dispatches to neutral Stockholm said today.

A dispatch to the Stockholm newspaper Allehanda from Berlin said that Russian planes approached the capital

"Authorities claim that only one plane reached the capital and that the others were driven off," the dispatch said. "There are no reports so far that bombs were dropped"

Under the extremely strict German censorship, neutral correspondents are permitted to report only what communiques admit as regards air raids, so it seemed possible that the Russian planes had bombed Berlin.

Germany had admitted earlier that Russian planes had made extensive raids on German, and said that "a single plane" reached the barrage area of Berlin.

Mount McKinley, in south central Alaska, is the highest mountain in North America.

attacked from high altitude, the fighters, in imminent danger, darted in through a hail of the big planes' bombs to attack with machine guns at ground level.

Japanese military buildings all over the Lashio airdrome burst into flames. Barrack grounds and fields were left strewn with Japanese dead and wounded.

The bombers took care of Lashio city while the fighters attacked the airdrome, sweeping in at 50 feet altitude with their machine guns blazing.

We flew over the airdrome but dropped no bombs because we could see no enemy planes.

Col. Haynes led the bomber force toward Lashio city.

I watched the bombs drop from his plane like shiny cigars and seconds later I saw them explode right in the middle of a big group of buildings, probably troop barracks.

The buildings were hurled into the sky.

Lashio looked different now from what it had a few seconds before.

Half a dozen fires were burning. Smoke and dust caused by the explosions covered a big area.

When we turned homeward, I saw our pursuit planes flying low over the airdrome, their guns blazing. There was a small explosion as one Japanese plane blew up.

Report Chinese Past Chuhsien Defenses

NEW DELHI—(INS)—Reports reaching India from Chungking today said that Chinese forces had penetrated the outer defenses of the city of Chuhsien and that fighting is in progress west and south of the Kiangsi province city.

Chuhsien has come to be known as one of the "bomb Tokyo" cities since it is 600 air miles from Japan, a distance easily negotiable by heavy bombers.

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

MANSFIELD, OHIO, THURSDAY, AUGUST 27, 1942.

Unheard remark: "I heard a good story last night—and I remember what it was."

It is said that South Sea natives do not understand our money—which makes it practically unanimous.

Whatever plans are being made for a post-war world, "human nature" cannot be safely left out of the reckoning.

Close Guard Against 'Undesirables'

EXTREME caution is being exercised in making sure that no "undesirables" are among the passengers on the diplomatic liner Gripsholm, which brought more than 1,400 Americans back from Japan, in exchange for Japanese nationals who had been detained in the United States after the Pearl Harbor attack.

It was a two-months trip of 18,000 miles that was made by these returning diplomats, missionaries, newspaper representatives, and business men, during which a close check-up of many of them was made by federal investigators—but not all passed the rigid tests, which applied to American citizens as well as others, and a number under suspicion were sent to Ellis Island pending further investigation.

Many recent occurrences justify the close scrutiny that is now being given all entrants into the United States, as the capture and execution of a few spies cannot be assumed to have ended efforts toward subversive activities and sabotage attempts by Axis agents.

While this changed attitude has been brought about entirely by United States entry into the war it may sometimes be wondered if previous easy entrance into this country, and the tolerance accorded obviously undesirable aliens, is not at least partially responsible for much of the pre-Pearl Harbor subversive activities by which America was distressed and also for a considerable percentage of the unenviable national crime record.

If, after the war, some middle ground can be found between the present extreme requirements for admission and the earlier lackadaisical attitude of giving little heed to unauthorized entry of undesirable aliens, as in the well-remembered case of Bruno Hauptmann, prospects for the future of America will be much brightened.

War Opens New Fields for Women

EXCEPT for the purpose of being prepared for whatever emergencies may develop, present discussion of the extent to which women may later engage in "men's work" appears more academic than practical.

Industry has already found places for many women workers in lines of employment once reserved for men, and within the past couple of decades the field of women's work has been vastly expanded.

Now, however, it becomes a matter of diverting all possible manpower to war service, either in actual combat or in civilian work necessary to supply military equipment and other essentials of war.

A recent article told of Ohio state law barring women from jobs as taxicab drivers, and this would have been in accord with ideas in 1923, when the law was passed—and possibly now—except for the war's drain on male taxicab drivers and men fitted for this work.

In the event of later urgent need it seems not unlikely that legal barriers will be dropped, to the extent of permitting qualified women to drive taxicabs, as is being done in some other states and countries.

Consideration of acceptance of women into the local police and fire departments is also in a discussional stage, although policewomen have been found valuable for special service in many of the larger cities.

There will be no inclination in America to hurry women into unaccustomed tasks, yet it is entirely too soon to forecast what military needs of the future will bring along these lines.

Words Must Be Backed By Deeds

WORDS are worth only what you put into them, the power with which you back them. If there is one danger more insidious than another, in this war that Americans are engaged in, it is, as Wendell Willkie says, mistaking a word for the thing itself—taking democracy for granted.

"Our enemies do not take their way of life for granted," he observes. "They are willing to fight, to die, for their beliefs. And if we are going to whip them, so must we be willing to fight and die for our cause. An American victory achieved by American faith is the only way to prove to our enemies that their cause is dead. And if we do not have that faith, we can lose the war."

There can be no thought other than that the United Nations will eventually achieve victory—but the real purpose of fighting to save freedom from all this wreckage must be kept bright and clear.

One Way To Stop Tire Thefts

THE EXPECTED has happened. A news item tells about a Clevelander firing five rifle shots at a man who tried to steal a tire from his automobile. At least one of the bullets seems to have taken effect.

A would-be thief, discovered in the act, is assumed to be armed and in readiness to shoot, if cornered, so it would appear that too much fault should not be found with a person who uses rather drastic measures in protection of his own property.

Stealing automobile tires, under present conditions, must also be recognized as a more serious offense than when tires can be replaced, and it may be just as well for potential thieves to get the idea that a well-aimed bullet is in readiness for them.

Jack Warwick, in the Toledo Blade, suggests that "While our boys at the front are fighting for free religion, perhaps some of us at home ought to get more of it."

In the absence of information to the contrary it may be assumed that there is still a secretary of labor.

As a helpful hint to the Japs it is now being explained that Shangri La is in the Illusion islands.

Now it's the housing shortage that is blamed for the many roomers afloat in Washington.

Recalling an old slogan, "It's time to re-tire"—the speeders.

Every little helps—save the kitchen fats.

Where Intelligence Is Necessary

—By CARTER FIELD

WASHINGTON — Sometimes it seems as if the army and navy should have a fictional department. Not to invent all stories to divert the populace, or even the enemy, but to keep abreast of ideas about warfare developed by amateurs who make their living by writing fiction.

Take the recent case, for instance, of photographs given out by the government showing how alleged markings in fields resulted in arrows or other signs pointing directly at important war factories. One is obliged to assume that these photographs, and the stories that went with them, were given out in good faith. Anything else would be unthinkable.

The fact that they were later denied, and put in the "looking under beds" category, is not the point. Originally the authorities rushed into print with this important story with pictures.

NOW it so happens that just such markings, produced by cutting crops in certain ways, or by other devices, which would reveal important directions to aviators flying over them, were actually used by the Japs when they attacked Hawaii on December 7. So the officials who learned of these alleged markings in fields near important war production factories a few weeks ago were entirely justified in being interested. In fact it might have been forgiven them if they had gotten a bit rough with those responsible for these particular markings.

But if they had read some fiction a year or more ago in widely circulated magazines they might have acted differently. In the case of a serial which was probably read by more than a million Americans the same sort of thing, generally was discovered in Britain back in the 1940 days. Fortunately, the author was not handicapped by publicity men. He did not have the commanding officers rush to the newspapers with the story. Instead the traitorous signs were changed—and changed in such a way that they resulted in destruction for many of the attacking airplanes.

THEY SAY truth is stranger than fiction. None of the fiction writers has conceived anything quite so amazing, so far as this writer has noticed, as that seizure of an Italian plane by British prisoners flying over the Mediterranean recently, when their captors became airsick, and the flying of the plane back to a British base. That is a story worthy of Paul Gallico's "Hiram Holiday." Or of one of the C. S. Forester's heroes.

But surely if the enemy is depending on some markers, and these markers are discovered, the censors should forbid anything being printed about it. Can't the markers be changed to point to some fake plant or city such as the Germans are alleged to have constructed by the hundreds in order to protect important objectives?

Or is it that the censors believe the aim of any attacking pilots will be so bad that they will be bound to hit something important if they are trying to hit something else?

In short, how about a little intelligence in the intelligence service?

Listen World!

We Dood It!

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

KEEPING the home fires burning is a cinch compared with keeping the home crops plucked these days, as those of us who have ranches and farms can testify.

Where, oh where, are the hordes of jobless lads who used to come ambling around when the peach was on the bough and the berry on the thorn? I can tell you exactly where they are—Uncle Sam has gobbled them up, to the last calloused palm and freckle. So what do we do for "hired hands"? Mrs. Fremont Older knows the answer.

Cora Older, widow of America's great and beloved newspaper publisher, and plenty of a writer herself, is lean, lithe and possesses enough spunk to run a dozen unions. You'd never guess it to see her clicking along in her city duds. You might indeed surmise that she spent her mornings amidst the lace frills of some fluffy chaise longue, in which case you'd surmise wrong. For there's one California grand dame who has "spurs that jingle, jangle, jingle" in scores of projects, the tougher the better.

Take this summer for instance. Maybe you've been getting your suntan at the nearest beach. Not so Cora. During sizzling July and August weeks she has been climbing the hundreds of apricot and prune trees which spread across her big ranch at Cupertino, picking the fruit herself with the occasional and temperamental aid of a 64-year-old handy man. And if you don't think picking 'cots on a July afternoon is Some Job, you've a lot to learn, stranger.

To Cora, however, there was no alternative. There was the fruit, such a harvest as the West has not seen in many a year. Golden floods of apricots, purple piles of prunes, but nary a man to pick them in or deliver them to the dryer. So what? So if a man could climb a tree, she could. And did. Let the typewriter rest for a while, let the roses go ungathered—Cora Older was going to tackle her Victory harvest.

It's an epic, that battle with heat and weariness, human cussedness and old Mother Nature. I hope she puts it into a book. The first day she was fit to be dragged, didn't believe she'd ever make it to the home house.

But she woke up next morning feeling better than she had in years. Then back up the trees again with the lug boxes piling into a young mountain. After which came the usual appalling question. The 'cots were off the trees, but how to get them to the dryer? She had an old truck, but no tires. So she took the cushions out of her car and the first day made four jolting trips down the mountain trail with the crop.

When you consider that each trip probably consumed thirty miles in the going, not to mention the time in loading, you can lie right down and pant. Probably Cora did. But she's still at it, more power to her! And personally I think she has it all over Paul Revere's ride. He only had to sit on a horse.

And brave Cora Older isn't the only one who is piling up records like that these days.

Teen-age youngsters, young war brides, school teachers, housekeepers and grandmothers, they are all piling out to harvest the sugar beets and the hops and the enormous fruit crops of the East and West.

Well, whoever thought they couldn't? How do you suppose our West would ever have been conquered if the pioneer women hadn't been able to handle an ax and a musket as well as their men? It's all part of the same American spirit that urge which held our fighters in Bataan and sent Cora up into her apricot trees. And as long as we have it, we've got something, World, that no Axis can ever take from us.

Timely Editorial

Facts Are Sufficient.

The order to curtail and reorganize military public relations activities will meet with enthusiastic public approval. Too many men in uniform have been detailed to give out information, and some times opinions and build-ups, through press and radio.

Our military forces, whether in the United States or elsewhere, should not have propagandists on the payroll, or advertising departments, to "sell" anybody or anything, or to dress up the news in fancy language.

The men of the military public relations staff serve the public most satisfactorily when they restrict their activities to giving out the important news, both good and bad, promptly and fully, withholding only essential facts which might give aid and comfort to the enemy.—Toledo Blade.

Fateful Time for United Nations As Axis Challenge Is Being Met

—By DE WITT MACKENZIE

AS THE DIPLOMATIC exchange liner Gripsholm docked in New York harbor Tuesday with its load of wan-faced Americans repatriated from the barbarities of loathesome Japanese prison cells, the home-comers wept and cheered brokenly at sight of the Statue of Liberty and the Stars and Stripes of freedom.

Today in the far southwestern Pacific among the Solomon islands American and Japanese forces are locked in a great sea and air conflict which may go far toward determining whether those Stars and Stripes shall continue to promise liberty.

A Japanese victory might take the Nipponese a long way toward achievement of their announced ambition of dictating peace in Washington. That would mean the transfer to our America of the torture chamber, the wholesale murders and rapings, and the insufferable militaristic repression which exceeds even Hitlerism in its brutal arrogance.

This is indeed a fateful moment for us and our Allies. Not only is the wheel of fortune whirring in the Orient, but over in the milling Russ.an theater Herr Hitler is throwing into the decisive battle of the Caucasus every ounce of striking power he possesses in an effort to make a kill. The position of the Red armies is one of dire peril, though it isn't by any means hopeless.

In perhaps eight weeks or so that wheel of fortune will stop spinning and the little ball will drop to tell us what our luck may be. Our great concern, of course, is Hitler. He must be stopped before snow flies. If we can keep him away from fresh resources, and preserve the Red fighting machine from destruction, then we shall have our grasp on victory, for we can handle the Japs once we have stopped Hitler.

We haven't yet enough facts about the engagement in the Pacific to say that it will have decisive effects. We don't know the size of the forces engaged, and that is essential to our calculations.

However, from the meager information at hand it would appear that the Nipponese are gambling with a large section of their grand fleet. It also would seem that we have inflicted considerable losses on the enemy, but there's no word of what our own losses—if any—have been.

If the Japs are risking a great naval fleet, besides air power, then we have in the conflict all the elements for a decision which may be a sure guide to the outcome of the war with Japan. We appear to have the advantage of being able to meet the Japanese warships with land-based bombers, and that in itself might spell disaster for the Mikado's forces.

If we can inflict on the Japanese now a further heavy naval loss, without ourselves suffering severely, then we probably shall have settled the supremacy of the Pacific in our favor. And that at least would be a handful of nails in the Jap coffin.

'Surprises' Promised as More U. S. Planes Join War Effort

—By LOUIS F. KEEMLE

AMERICAN fighting equipment is beginning to make its weight felt in the war and the enemy may be due for some unpleasant surprises when more of our military developments are unveiled in action.

A hint of this was given in London by Brig. Gen. G. M. Barnes, head of the design division of the war department, who said that "we have many surprises." As assistant chief of ordnance of the army, he said that our ordnance production already is sufficient to support a full sized army in the field in Europe.

Gen. Barnes denied any German superiority in equipment and incidentally added that the British also have many "surprises" which he termed "real eye-openers."

ONE of the first surprises the enemy got was the performance of our flying fortresses in action over Europe. These planes had been criticized by the British as inferior to their bases, presumably on the basis of British tests made with the first models sent over last year.

Since then, the fortresses have been improved radically and when they went into action last week, manned by American crews, they proved magnificent. Much had been made of the prowess of the new German Focke-Wulf 190 fighter, but when some of our fortresses were attacked by a swarm of Focke-Wulfs over the North sea, our bombers shot down six of them and returned to base without loss.

Similarly in the Pacific, the new Japanese Zero fighters were hailed as superior to our planes, but in China and over the South Pacific they have been bested repeatedly by our fliers and have come out on the short end in nearly every encounter.

It is true that our airmen in Europe have been using a great many British Spitfires, but that is probably because our fighters have not yet arrived in sufficient quantity, owing partly to the shipping bottleneck. We likewise have one or two new types which have not yet been seen in action and which may prove superior to anything the enemy has.

In Europe, the Middle East, the Orient and elsewhere our planes already have proved their worth. So have our tanks, as for instance in the North African desert, where they have been a potent factor in action against Marshal Erwin Rommel's forces.

In China, the air force is being expanded rapidly and more and more Chinese are being trained for the air offensive against Japan. Current Chinese successes in Chekiang province, if they continue, give reason to hope that before long they will be in possession of important air bases from which Tokyo and other Japanese centers can be bombed.

Health And Diet

Common Diseases Of Childhood.

—By DR. CLENDENING

YOUR CHILD can be protected by immunization against the following diseases and should be vaccinated at the age indicated:

Whooping cough—6 months.

Smallpox—9 months.

Diphtheria — 12 months, with Schick test at 6 years to determine if revaccination is necessary.

Scarlet fever—3 to 4 years.

Typhoid fever—8 to 12 years.

This is a right up-to-date list published in 1941 by Dr. John A. Kolmer, professor of medicine at Temple university, Philadelphia. In short, it is conservative, authoritative and squares with the latest knowledge.

The greatest danger of infancy and childhood is the series of contagions each individual must pass through. This danger is greatly increased as soon as the child enters school because there so many new human contacts are made, carriers of germs from other households. Against many of these, some of the worst, medical science can furnish immunity by vaccination. It is the greatest boon medical science has to offer humanity.

Let us review the list.

Whooping cough is today the greatest baby-killer on earth. This used to be reserved for diphtheria, but since the universal vaccination against diphtheria in children of preschool and school age began about 20 years ago, diphtheria is a rare disease.

Scarlet fever has become so mild, for some reason nobody understands, that the death rate in the whole population is today 1 to 100 of what it was 50 years ago. This is not due to wide vaccination against scarlet fever, but seems to be a natural example of ebb and flow. Scarlet fever may be a disappearing disease, or it may be due for an increase in virulence.

At any rate, that leaves whooping cough and measles as the chief killers and whooping cough is a far more dangerous disease than measles. For measles there is no known method of vaccination or prevention, so perhaps the best thing is to let the growing child have an attack and get it over with.

Whooping cough does damage by it complication — pneumonia and the after-effects on the central nervous system, leading to speech disorders, tardy and incoordinated walking and mental tardiness.

Prevention of whooping cough is possible with the Sauer vaccine. It must be given early in life because whooping cough is a disease of infancy. No bad results have been reported from its use.

The vaccine is given in three doses hypodermically at intervals of one to three weeks. The immunity lasts five to eight years, which covers the period of greatest susceptibility. There are about 10 to 15 per cent failures, but the disease is so fraught with danger that these should be risked.

A Farmer's Diary

Wildlife Shelter

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

LAST fall when I cut a tree at the edge of our woods, I piled the smaller branches about the stump. When I came back that way I was surprised how much that thoughtless bit of work appeared like a low substantial shelter. Only the part toward the south was open toward the light. The roof was thick with slender branches laid almost parallel, one end upon the stump, the others in a wide circle, like wagon spokes.

When winter came, and need for fuel was urgent, I went up the slope to plan a trail and drag down some seasoned wood. A light snow and a hoary morning frost had made me conscious of this convenient store.

But within ten feet of the silent, covered mound, I stopped short. Here was a message written on the clean white sheet. Tracks of rabbits—three of them. One must have found a grassy hutch, beneath the snow, but the others rested inside the rude hut for the day. An opossum track led out of the protected hollow, and there were fresher, sharper signs of his return. Lacy trails of field mice were at the farthest radius of the branches, the trace of a shrew's bold entrance.

As I tore away the first thin sticks, snow dropped through the crevices to the floor, and the rabbits, startled, ran out—yet farther in I heard the peculiar sound of rustling birds. When I put in my hand I was greeted by a hiss and a saucy peck. I grabbed the protesting culprit and pulled him out - my friend the screech owl.

I left the shelter intact the remainder of the winter. Some weeks after this I found where a brood of quail had entered, a deer-mouse had made his home, and a chipmunk had sunk his burrow beneath the lateral roots of the stump.

I observed below the thick covering of the leaves, the crisp tender shoots of a jack-in-the-pulpit, the faint pink tinge of bramble sprouts, the rhizomes of wild ginger and the pointed surge of a trillium plant.

This fall, when I cut dead trees from the woodlot, I shall pile the brush again, into shelters for our wild folk. Clean fence rows and immaculate woods, free from brush and litter, look very well, perhaps, but wild life needs low shelter. Beside the rightful sport for hunters and the beauty and interest of their presence, they keep the proper balance of nature for the growth of crops.

Chicago Largest Defense Training Center In Nation

CHICAGO—(INS)—Fifteen thousand civilians in Chicago are going to war, not with guns, but with gauges, tools and test tubes, according to a survey by the Illinois Institute of Technology.

The 15,000 are students and graduates of the school which was created here in 1940 when Armour Institute and Lewis Institute were merged. The Illinois Tech program has been characterized as the largest defense training set-up operating in any one city.

Suggestions that the institute inaugurate a defense training program were made in November, 1940, and by Thanksgiving day of that year 16 courses had been designed and were on their way to Washington for approval. The program was established before Christmas.

Exactly 14,780 persons have enrolled in the defense courses to date, Tech officials said, and a combining of the field indicates that not a single war industry in the vast Chicago area is without a Tech defense training alumnus.

GOVERNOR HAS 198 COLONELS

Hell Appoints Large Number of Honorary Officers.

MADISON, Wis. —(U.P.)— Gov. Julius P. Heil's military staff—198 honorary colonels—can produce a list of home addresses that range from one end of the country to the other.

The list of colonels in Wisconsin's current Blue Book include internationally-known entertainers, Republican and Democratic politicians.

From Hollywood the Governor can call Bud Abbott, Lou Costello, Gene Autry, Nelson Eddy, Harold Lloyd and Spencer Tracy to march as militray aids. He can command John Ringling North and Henry E. Ringling of circus fame. He is the superior officer of "Colonel" Clayton F. Smith, president of Chicago's Cook county board.

Commentator Boake Carter and Pan-American Airways' Juan Trippe are companion colonels to Chief Yellow Thunder.

Although a majority of the "colonels" live in Wisconsin, other addresses include California, Georgia, Pennsylvania, Colorado, New Jersey, New York, Maryland, Michigan, Ohio, Florida, Virginia and Washington, D. C.

JUST TRYING TO SAVE GAS

EPHRATA, Pa.—(U.P.)—D. Forrest Hawthorne was held for court on a charge of operating a motor-driven scooter while intoxicated. He said he substituted the scooter for his automobile to conserve gasoline.

TANK FROM OLD CANNON

TOGUS, Me.—(U.P.)—When melted for scrap, a Civil War cannon at the Veterans hospital here will furnish 12 tons of metal for the war effort—enough to build a medium-sized tank.

BACK TO WORK

AKRON, O. —(U.P.)— Add notes on "business resulting from the war": the little red hen is back at work brooding her flock again.

Officials of the B. F. Goodrich Co., which for several years has been supplying a large part of the rubber for artificial "mother hens" used in rearing young chicks, revealed here that the government regards the use of rubber for these modern brooders as "non-essential" and has banned its further use.

That tosses the mothering business right back into the hen's lap —or under it.

AMERICAN BAR REJECTS BAN ON WAR STRIKES

Turns Down Resolution at Convention Held In Detroit.

(By International News Service)

DETROIT — Delegates to the American Bar association convention today had defeated a resolution asking that federal authorities outlaw strikes in war industries.

Earlier delegates heard Dr. Ricardo J. Alfaro, former president of the Republic of Panama, predict that every South American country will soon be at war with the Axis.

"Brazil's action is typical of the trend," Alfaro declared. "The die is cast for all the Americas because there are more true believers in the spirit of democracy than followers of any other thought pattern in the nations of the world."

Other speakers at the convention included Dr. Charles F. Kettering, general manager of General Motors corporation; Governor John W. Bricker, of Ohio, and Ray C. Wakefield, member of the Federal Communications commission.

Kettering declared that "after we win the war, we should invent the kind of a world we want to live in. . . . The world, like any piece of machinery, can be just as good as we think it can be."

Bricker cited Ohio's financing policy which stresses economy and added:

"Getting the money without destroying our national economic structure should be the sole motive. Taxes in war should not be timed or influenced by elections."

Wakefield urged the merger of the Western Union and Postal Telegraph companies, saying the step would help make "America the communications center of the world."

CITY-WIDE SALUTE TO BOYS IN ARMED FORCES ASKED TUESDAY

Wherever you are at 9 p. m. Tuesday—in your home, on the street, in a theater or other assembly—you are asked to momentarily stand at attention and salute the nation's fighting men as Mansfield's method of dedicating September as "Salute to Our Heroes Month."

This request was issued today by Municipal Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch, Mansfield director of Civilian Defense, in compliance with instructions from the Ohio State Council of Defense headquarters and in keeping with a proclamation issued by Governor John W. Bricker.

This salute will coincide, Judge Kalbfleisch said, with the treasury department's billion-dollar war bond and stamp sale plans for September. During the month the motion picture theaters of Mansfield will join with all other movie houses in the country in serving as the spearhead of the bond-stamp drive.

Bricker's proclamation urges that "every citizen, no matter where he or she may be or what one may be doing, whether at home, in the theater, on the street, or in any assembly, come to attention and render a salute to our fighting forces."

BACKS MOVE TO CURB SPEEDING

Judge Kalbfleisch Increases Penalty Against Two In Traffic Court.

Indicating that city and state campaigns against excessive auto speeding will receive court support, Municipal Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch yesterday afternoon increased penalties against two of six drivers arraigned in traffic court.

Nick V. Zaite, jr., Cleveland, arrested on Route 42 by state highway patrolmen, was found guilty of speeding and fined $25 and costs. Robert J. Early, 186 South Mulberry street, arraigned for a second speeding offense, paid a fine of $20 and costs. Case of Michael J. Ondik, arrested by highway patrolmen for speeding on U. S. Route 30-S, was continued.

Others fined were Arthur L. Smith, 593 Coleman road; Frank Kruso, jr., Mansfield R. D. 1; Lawrence L. Stoll and James R. Hagans, both of Cleveland, each $10 and costs.

THREE SCHOOLS GET NEW HEADS

Butler, Union Rural and Lucas Have New Superintendents; All Others Are Same.

Superintendents of all but three of the Mansfield and Richland county schools will head the same schools again this year.

Supt. W. L. Miller of Mansfield schools recently received a new five-year contract and will start his eighth year at the helm of the city's public school system.

The three new superintendents in county districts are R. C. Rehard who will succeed Willard S. Weekley at Butler; Glenn W. Guthrie, succeeding J. E. McCullough at the head of the Union Rural schools, and McCullough who moved to the Lucas schools. Leland Gilliand was the Lucas superintendent last year.

Rehard will come to Butler from Richwood and Guthrie another newcomer in Richland county, is from Tunnel Hill in Coshocton county.

Superintendents in the county who will continue in the same posts they held last year are D. D. Rummel, Bellville; E. J. Joseph, Shiloh; Byron H. Carmean, Lexington; Olan LaRue, Madison township schools; E. L. Bailey, Plymouth; L. C. Stingel, Springfield township schools.

In Mansfield, the principal of every school was re-assigned to the same building. The principals are Glenn G. Rohleder, Senior high school; H. J. Dotson, John Simpson junior high school; G. W. Harmony, Johnny Appleseed junior high school; E. W. Kissel, Bowman school; C. C. Secrist, Brinkerhoff school.

Roy R. Spetka, Bushnell school; Dean Rex, Carpenter school; Glen L. Robinson, Hedges school; W. A. Freeman, Newman school; G. W. Taylor, Prospect school; Jesse Clark, Western avenue school; W. W. Blauser, West Fifth street school, and C. A. Divelbiss, Woodland school.

CITY, COUNTY PUPILS WILL MEET 83 NEW TEACHERS THIS AUTUMN

Their teaching staffs riddled by the draft and the lure of better pay in war industries, Mansfield and Richland county boards of education and superintendents were faced with a big problem this summer in filling teaching vacancies in time for the school opening.

There will be at least 83 new teachers for pupils to get acquainted with when the school bells start ringing next Monday. Twenty of the new instructors will be in Mansfield.

Approximately 30 men teachers and one young woman instructor in the city and county have resigned or have been granted leaves to go into active military service. Others have resigned to take jobs in war industries or better teaching positions elsewhere.

In Mansfield, five men instructors from John Simpson junior high school have gone into the army or navy. They are Dan Haber, Homer Sims, Robert Glass, George Tuttle, and Herbert Perrill.

Other Mansfield teachers who are in active service include Paul Cameron, Vere O. Smith, Richard Nixon, and Miss Elizabeth Braden. Former teacher in the elementary schools, Miss Braden is on duty with the civil coastal patrol.

Harry Russell, Senior high instructor last year, has resigned to teach aviation at the Mansfield airport.

New teachers in the city's schools and the schools to which they have been assigned are:

Bowman — Gertrude Smith, Freda Matthaes, and Ruth Young; Brinkerhoff — Grace Rodabaugh; Hedges — Margaret Jackson, Avis Archibald, and Mary Eyster.

Newman — Helen Dove; Prospect — Leona Baumgardner; Woodland - - Ellen Sullivan, Helen Haskins, and Bernice Peoples; Senior high school — Mary Lott, Mary Jane Bolus; John Simpson junior high school — W. B. Lantz and Dorothy Welter; Johnny Appleseed junior high school — Margaret West and Guy Van Nostrand; Special schools—Margaret Ferguson and Myrtle Leeper.

Virtually the entire staff resigned at Butler where there will be a new superintendent and 13 new teachers. Only three teachers remained from last year's staff. They are Dale Friday, Helen Carsey, and Floyd Beal.

Union Rural schools lost 12 teachers, Bellville and Shiloh schools, 11 each; Lexington, 7; Madison schools, 6; Lucas and Ontario schools, 4 each; Plymouth, 3; Mifflin and Sharon townships, one each.

WESLEYAN UNIT OPENS SEASON

WILLARD — Members of the Wesleyan Service Guild will be guests of the Woman's Society of Christian Service at the first meeting of the year following the summer recess, Wednesday at 7:30 p. m.

Mrs. W. B. Paper will be the hostess at her home on Pearl street.

The opening service will be in charge of Miss Edith Brown and the program topic "Youth of Our Church" will be presented by Mrs. Dale Williams.

STOP BUCYRUS-MARION BUSES

BUCYRUS — Bus service between Bucyrus and Marion, started two months ago to provide transportation of workers to the Marion ordnance plant to and from Bucyrus and vicinity, will be discontinued because traffic does not justify a continuation of the service, it was announced today at the local Greyhound station.

No date has been set for the end of the service. The order is in line with the company's policy to cut services where possible to conserve equipment.

The average population concentration in the United States is 43.6 persons to every square mile.

HAVE YOU TRIED Amazing New Wonder Bread With Its Taste-Thrilling "PATENTED FLAVOR"?

Women Quitting Old Kinds For It At The Rate Of 5,000 A Week Now!

Takes The Place Of Any White Bread Deficient In Natural Flavor, Vitamins And Minerals Because It Contains More Natural Flavor, Wheat Vitamins And Minerals

IF YOU want to add a new flavor thrill to the table you set, then you must try this amazing new "patented flavor" bread. Which has already taken the place of ordinary white bread in over 540,000 American homes. For these two reasons:

1. Because it brings more of the rich, natural flavor of wheat full-ripened in the sun than white bread robbed of Nature's bounty. Thus, is better for taste.
2. Because it contains more natural vitamins and minerals of wheat now than ever before thought possible.

You can see the difference at once. Gone is the chalk-white look of the ordinary baker's bread. Instead, this new "patented flavor" kind has the color of the cream on the top of the bottle of milk.

A Remarkable Discovery

Everybody knows the trouble with ordinary white bread. Made from flour bled white in refining to make a whiter loaf. Then Theodore Earle patented his discovery (U. S. Pat. Nos. 2143306, 2232697, 2155219, 2232696). And here is the secret of "patented flavor."

By removing the bad-tasting outer skin of the grain, you get this richer, better tasting loaf. A bread the color of cream; tender in texture and crust. And with more natural vitamins and minerals.

To obtain this amazing new "patented flavor" loaf—ask your grocer today for the new Wonder Bread. And see for yourself why women everywhere are quitting ordinary white bread for this new creamy kind at the rate of over 5,000 weekly.

A Great Thrill

Most people are astonished and thrilled by their first taste of this new "patented flavor" Wonder Bread. Not the flat insipid flavor of the usual chalk-white kind. But refreshingly different! Like the taste of fresh fruit after canned. You'll say it's marvelous!

ONLY WONDER BREAD HAS "PATENTED FLAVOR"
Because Only Wonder Bread Is Made This Way From Earle Patented Process Flour Under U. S. Pat. Nos. 2143306, 2232697, 2155219, 2232696

Ask your grocer for the bread with "patented flavor"—the new Wonder Bread—today sure. You, too, will be delighted with it.

VACATION OVER FOR 12,000 IN RICHLAND AREA

Some to Open Monday, Sept. 7, and By Sept 9, Studies Will Be Under Way.

Vacation is nearly over for approximately 12,000 Mansfield and Richland county boys and girls who will soon give up their summer jobs or return from camp to start a new school year.

Schools will begin opening next Monday and by Sept. 9 all of them are expected to be in full swing. Despite a serious shortage of teachers, all the rural schools in the county plan to operate on a full schedule this year.

Boys and girls of school age, like older residents of the city and county, have been forced to change their daily routine to meet the problems of the war. It wasn't much of a vacation for many pupils who had to work during the summer to replace an older brother or the hired hand who has gone into the armed forces.

The girls have done their part too, a number of them doing farm work or taking office jobs in defense industries.

First to start the new term will be the Union rural schools in Weller and Franklin townships which will open for the 1942-43 term next Monday, the last day of August.

Most of the rural schools and St. Peter's parochial school in Mansfield will open Tuesday, Sept. 8, the day after Labor day. Mansfield public schools will start the new term Sept. 9.

The Mansfield teaching staff is complete, but a few of the county schools, hard hit by the draft, are still looking for instructors.

Although there will be only three new superintendents in the city and county, scores of new teachers have been hired to fill vacancies in Mansfield and virtually every rural district in the county.

School officials anticipate no difficulty with the transportation of pupils this year, but bus lines are being revised so as to eliminate as many miles as possible in picking up pupils. Bus drivers can get tires for their vehicles as long as they use the buses only for transporting pupils to and from school.

War restrictions have halted the construction of new buildings or additions, but maintenance men have been busy for several weeks renovating the present buildings and putting them in shape for the opening.

School officials would not predict what the probable opening day enrollments will be, but they saw a possibility that the figures will go down because of a shift in population to centers of greater war industrial activity.

At the close of the term last June the enrollment in Mansfield public schools totaled approximately 6,300. The county schools had 4,729 pupils, and about 850 were enrolled in St. Peter's parochial school.

Between 550 and 600 youngsters who have just reached school age are expected to begin attending classes in Mansfield public schools for the first time. First grade enrollment figures for the county schools were not available.

Mansfield Girls Go Shopping for School Wardrobes

With the opening of school less than two weeks away Mansfield's pupils are busy planning back-to-school wardrobes. Two junior misses are pictured here as they pose with coats, hats and dresses that will be popular on the high school campus this fall. All garments pictured are available in Mansfield stores and information as to where they may be obtained may be had by telephoning The Mansfield News-Journal. 1.—Doris Alverson, eighth grade student, tries on hats that will complement a light-colored raincoat. 2.—Here she is again posing with a plaid skirt. 3.—Bettie Gibson, tenth grade student, shows two popular striped models. 4.—Miss Helen Austin, clerk, outfits Doris Alverson in a raincoat. 6.—A colorful fur collar catches Bettie Gibson's eye as she shops for coats. 7.—A reversible coat and hood also has its merits, Bettie discovers.

FIVE HOLIDAYS ON SCHEDULE OF CITY'S SCHOOLS

Urban Pupils to Get More Time Off Studies Than Brothers, Sisters in County.

Pupils in Mansfield schools will get more holidays than the boys and girls in the rural districts again during the 1942-43 term.

While Mansfield schools will observe their customary five holiday periods, rural and village schools will have only four. There's a possibility that the Christmas holidays will be shortened in the rural districts so schools can be dismissed earlier in the spring.

The first vacation will be Oct. 30 when schools will be dismissed to permit teachers to attend their annual convention in Cleveland. That will be only a one-day vacation, but it comes on Friday so it will make a long week-end.

All schools will observe the Thanksgiving holiday on Nov. 25 this year, giving pupils a holiday lasting from Thursday to Monday.

Mansfield schools will begin the Christmas vacation Dec. 18 and schools will be closed until Jan. 4. Some county schools will close later than Dec. 18 and are expected to have less than two weeks' vacation.

County Supt. Boyd Robinson said school officials in some rural districts have discussed observing only one-day holidays at Christmas and New Year so schools can be dismissed earlier in the spring, but that program has not been definitely set up.

Mansfield schools and a part of the rural districts will observe Washington's birthday as a holiday Feb. 22.

It's at Easter that the city pupils have the advantage over the rural boys and girls. Mansfield schools will close April 23 for 10 days, opening again May 3. Rural districts will have no Easter vacation.

Mansfield youngsters will have to make up for the Easter holiday later in the spring, however, by going to school until June 10 while rural and village districts close for the summer late in May or about June 1.

The earlier dismissal in the spring gives farm boys and girls more time to help with the spring work during the busy farm season. That early closing has assumed new importance since the beginning of the war because of the farm labor shortage.

SPEED-UP FREEZE

Argentina Beef-Packers Cut Time For Freezing.

BUENOS AIRES—(U.P.)—Argentina's famed beef exports are being frozen by a new quick-freeze method that takes six hours instead of the several days required at present, and will save 35 per cent on shipping space, according to local packers.

By the new process, the meat is sucked into hollow metal tubes by a vacuum, equivalent to half a ton of air pressure; the meat in the tube is then frozen under a brine spray which is later removed by exterior heating.

DAY SCHOOL TO DROP 6TH GRADE

Two New Teachers Hired as Miss Cayford Becomes the Director.

Country Day school will be lacking a sixth grade for the first time in its history when school opens Sept. 9. Two of the three pupils anticipated for the upper grade moved out of town and the board of directors deemed it wise to discontinue sixth grade instruction this year.

The school will have two new teachers this year and also a new director, Miss Margaret Cayford, who has been a member of the faculty of three for several years. Miss Cayford, who will teach the two lower grades, succeeds Angeline Shaneff Kisselintcheff who resigned last spring to be married.

Mrs. Ethel Carpenter of Richford, Va., is the new kindergarten teacher and Miss Agnes Ghysels of Grand Rapids, Mich., will instruct the three upper grades.

Mrs. Carpenter taught for two years in South America, and has also taught at North Shore Country Day School in Winnettka, Ill., at Edgerton, Wis., and Dayton, Ky. She is a graduate of Milwaukee State Teachers' college.

Graduate of Western State Teachers' college at Kalamazoo, Mich., Miss Ghysels taught eight years in Grand Rapids and Monroe, Mich.

Approximately 40 students have already enrolled for the year and Miss Cayford indicated that enrollment would probably reach 50 or more by the time school starts.

Commerce Department Tells How Civilians Can Help Win

WASHINGTON—(U.P.)—Are you wondering what you can do to help win the war? The government says there are a variety of ways for the people back home in the crossroads communities to do their bit.

For instance, women can do the work of bank tellers and elevator operators.

They can help discover hidden talents useful in war. (It may be that the man cooking hamburgers in the restaurant used to be a mechanic before the depression drove him in another line of work).

Or the women may spend Sundays working on the farm—particularly if the harvest problem in their area is acute.

The suggestions are only a few contained in a Commerce Department pamphlet entitled "Small Town Manual," a large portion of which is devoted to how people can win the war at home.

The booklet tells how to lick problems such as the shortage of farm and town labor, and transportation difficulties. It also has suggestions on salvage and scrap, shortages of machines and equipment and the migration of labor, along with home front problems in general.

The pamphlet has been in wide demand since it was issued recently. Fifteen towns have conducted specific experiments along the lines suggested. This number is expected to be increased to 1,000 by the end of the year.

Commenting on the possibility of townfolk doing harvest work on Sunday, the pamphlet said that "this is a war to save our country, a war to vanquish the Axis foes of Christianity and the church.

Urge Training At Home.

"If the farm-labor shortage in your area demands Sunday labor, work your plans out carefully with the co-operation of both farm and church leaders," it added. ". . . Our soldiers are fighting for us seven days a week, and we will unhesitatingly back them to the limit. Townspeople will welcome a chance to bring in the harvest we need to smash the Axis."

"The grassroots" manual asks community leaders if their high schools are giving evening courses to help citizens develop necessary war skills.

"Unless you act, tire dealers, auto salesmen and others may be drifting away from your town seeking training elsewhere," the booklet warned.

Housewives are urged to save fats and grease because glycerin is needed for making gun powder, and to study nutrition.

The booklet also suggested that communities start such projects as blood banks, sugar banks, sewing bees and others.

New Type Bolt Will Speed Work In Shipbuilding

SACRAMENTO, Cal. —(INS)— John O. Phelps, Mare Island navy yard employe at Vallejo, is the inventor of a new type of construction bolt, said by authorities at the yard to surpass in many ways the type of bolt now used to construct and repair ships so vital to the national war program.

Phelps explained that instead of the ordinary head of a bold he has invented a "lock member" which takes its place. The member, one of two identical pieces, fits securely into a notch below the tapered head of the bolt.

"A quick tap of the workman's hammer, or any piece of metal, releases the bolt, and saves valuable time ordinarily used in unscrewing the nut by wrench," he said.

"By the time a workman yells for a wrench to fit a certain nut, he could knock loose a dozen of these locking-members. These lock members fit six different types of bolts, being notched for various sizes.

"Instead of the workman on the other side of the plate carrying many sizes of nuts, one would do. Bolts and lock members could be used over and over, more than 2,000 times, instead of the present rate of three or four.

"When you realize that each bolt costs 25 cents, this adds up to a big savings."

FENCELESS TOWN PUTS UP SQUAWK

LONDON —(INS)— Residents of Ilford (near London) have a grudge against the government.

They figured they were being very patriotic and helping in the war effort when they dismantled the iron railings around their gardens recently. Had n t the government told them that "every pound of metal for salvage saves space in our ships."

But today—gazing out of their windows over their fence-less gardens — they have been watching workmen putting up new, highly ornamental railings all around the local school.

"Who's being patriotic now?" they ask.

USE VALVE TO STOP SABOTAGE

Invention Stops Short Circuits In War Factories.

CHICAGO—(U.P.)—A new noise-proof "safety valve" for use in shutting off short circuits caused by sabotage in war factory power systems was revealed here before the national convention of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers.

The valve is called a limiter, and can snuff out a torrent of electric power big enough to drive a battleship in a sixtieth of a second, J. M. Wallace, of Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company, who developed the limiter, explained.

He said that the valve is so constructed that it will not act until a short time has passed, thus giving the short circuit a chance to clear itself. If this does not happen, he said, the new limiter will go into action and stop immediately the flow of electricity. This is done, Wallace explained, by the heat generated by the short circuit, which melts a copper bar inside the safety valve. The resulting vapor cools into solid form in a split second and seals up the wire.

WAR WORKERS' IDEAS SPEED UP ARMS OUTPUT

Detroit Men at Machines Prove Great Help In War Effort.

(By United Press)

DETROIT—Today's war worker is proving himself to be a resourceful "idea" man.

Corporations which once relied almost exclusively upon high-priced engineers for methods of improving production, now utilize the man at the machine for hunches on speeding output of war weapons, boosting efficiency and reducing scrap.

General Motors Corp., which offers workers war bonds and stamps for acceptable tips, receive more than 15,000 suggestions during a 60-day period and paid out more than $40,000 in awards to men and women in 53 plants throughout the country. Two GM employes each received the maximum award—a $1,000 war bond.

30% Prove Helpful.

The Packard Motor Car Co., building aircraft and marine engines for the army and navy, has received 4,158 suggestions under its "Work to Win" program, 30 per cent of which helped to improve production efficiency. Merit pins are awarded workers whose ideas are accepted by the joint management-labor committee at Packard.

B. D. Kunkle, vice-president in charge of manufacturing for General Motors, said the suggestion plan "has led to some substantial increases in production." The percentage of "good and useable suggestions has exceeded our expectation," he added

The suggestions which drew one of the $1,000 war bonds at GM concerned simplification of the machining process on a part for the Allison airplane engine. Another employe produced an idea which saved a considerable quantity of cutting oil. A third worker suggested and built a machine that has eliminated a bottleneck in the production of a unit used in the fuel supply system of airplanes.

One Saving Equals Engine.

President George T. Christopher of Packard said his plant already has adopted 117 worker suggestions for speeding output of war engines.

"Here are three typical cases," he said. "One worker — 18 years with Packard—saved his country and its taxpayers more than enough to add another aircraft engine a month to its war schedule. A second employe—just a few years out of high school—developed a process that increased the life of a valuable cutting tool 300 per cent at a cost of only 25 cents. A third worker turned in a shop design that raises efficiency and lowers costly scrap."

Full protection is given the Packard worker whose suggestion may prove patentable, according to Christopher. Crude drawings, rough sketches or semi-professional drafts often are submitted by workers to illustrate their suggestions.

Drawing to a close now is the shortest period of the year (at least to several million school children). That's summer vacation. School this fall will bring its usual quota of fun, like the paddling of the freshmen, lower right, and the quick-stepping of snappy, brief-skirted drum majorettes on hundreds of high school gridirons, lower center, but 1942's conflict will not and cannot be forgotten in the classrooms where America's future hopes are learning to take their places in a world of turmoil. In high schools, especially, more emphasis than ever will be placed upon technical training to equip boys and girls for jobs in war (and, later, peace) production plants. And in science classes, lower left, students will acquire a more complete knowledge of modern aviation.

Uncle Sam Unites The Shaine Clan, Parted By War

MIAMI BEACH, Fla.—(INS)—All concerned were positive the Shaine family would be separated for quite a while, when 32-year-old son Edward drove his parents to the railroad station at Springfield, Mass., to catch a train for Miami Beach. For Edward was shortly to be inducted into the army.

Six weeks later, Mr. and Mrs. Shaine and their daughter, Lillian, stood on the porch of their hotel in the Florida resort, watching a newly-arrived contingent of troops march down the ocean front.

To their amazement, and delight, in the fourth rank was Edward—he had been transferred to Miami Beach from a New England camp and had not had time to notify his parents.

FORMER CHAMP HELPS WIN WAR

Sammy Mandell, Now 38, Runs Machine to Beat Axis.

ROCKFORD, Ill.—(U.P.)—A war product plant personnel officer had a surprise recently when in examining applicants for jobs, he came to one who, in answer to why he wanted the work, said: "I want to help win the war" and found a former ring champion on his hands.

The ex-title holder is Sammy Mandell, who once was the world's lightweight champion. Now, Sammy who is said to have put enough away to take care of his non-fighting days, is helping war production. He was first put to work on automatic lathes. Now he is grinding precision tools for the same lathes.

Mandell, now 38, held the championship from 1926 to 1930, losing it finally to Al Singer in New York.

VACATION HERE FOR MANSFIELD OSU STUDENTS

They're Part of Record-Breaking Summer Quarter Enrollment at State University.

Sixty-eight Mansfielders are listed in Ohio State university's record-breaking summer student body of more than 7,000 who will be returning home Friday for a short vacation before resuming studies Sept. 29. Eighteen others from Richland county also attended the summer quarter.

Four 1942 Mansfield high school graduates and several others from neighboring towns recently enrolled at Ohio State and will commence school with the fall quarter.

New students this fall and the colleges they will enter are Richard M. Fisch, arts and sciences; Morton Frankel, pre-law; Lorraine M. Baxter, home economics, and Bruce L. Graves, engineering, all of Mansfield. Others enrolled in the area are Warren Deaton and Lowell W. Gottfried, jr., both of Galion; Gerald L. Beale of Fredericktown and Richard C. Burns of Millersburg.

Mansfielders who were enrolled in the summer quarter and return home this week-end are William W. Ackerman, Dana W. Allen, Edward W. Art, Hortense Bachrach, Helen Bechtel, Mary E. Beer, Wendell M. Bell, Jeanne Berger, Ira Coleman, William A. Condon, Louis Coverman, Gerald F. Dent, Francis W. Doolittle, Emil J. Eisen, Richard M. Ferguson, George W. Fox, George Gazdak, James W. Gilbert, Marjorie E. Gongwer, John F. Hughes, Joseph C. Keifer, Oscar W. Klein, Lars R. Larson, Richard D. Lisle, Wayne R. Liston, Joseph L. Logan, Walter F. McAuley, Elsie M. McFadden, Ethel M. Mann, Vernal S. Mann, Nick G. Mavromatis, Walter B. Mayer, Walter W. Mickey, Martha Ann Miller and Myron D. Miller.

Also, Floyd B. Million, Robert C. Miller, Helen Myers, James W. Oberlin, Stephen M. Olin, Jesse R. Pearson, Alice Priess, Carl M. Quick, Howard M. Ray, Thelma L. Ringgenberg, Saul Rube, Gene Samsel, Malcolm Shawk, Darrell K. Smith, Alfred L. Sneeringer, Eldon W. Sneeringer, Richard G. Sowash, Richard W. Sparks, Clarence T. Strohmenger, Mary Sweet, David Templeton, Muriel Voll, Florence White, Jane Wagner, Richard M. White, Eleanor L. Wilcox, Norman R. Wilcox, Edward A. Yarnell and Margaret A. Zellner.

Richland countians living outside Mansfield who bring their summer classes to a close this week are Wallace D. Buker, Dale T. Friday, Gail Scott, Harry L. Sowers and Nellie Yarger, all of Bellville; Jeanne Reed and Scott O. Swank of Butler; Ruth Barr, Dexter W. Derrenberger, Martha L. Eckert and Marjorie Russell, all of Lexington; Mary Palmer of Lucas; Margaret Harnly of Shiloh; Zetta Brooks and Thomas F. Root, both of Plymouth, and Richard E. Claes, Edwin F. Snider and Thomas R. Sutter, all of Shelby.

He Wants Sturdy School Clothes

Sturdy school clothing that will stand the "wear and tear" appeals to young chaps of Huntington Brown's age. Here Huntington is shown on a shopping tour for classroom clothes that will take him straight through the winter. Mansfield stores carry all the garments shown here and information concerning them may be had by calling The Mansfield News-Journal. 1.—Huntington tries on a warm jacket with the aid of Clerk Joe Bauderer. 2.—He gets fitted for trousers by the same salesman. 3.—Shoes are the next thing on the list and here he inspects a make while C. M. Crafton gets a line on size.

"Old Bill" Leahy, One of Best U. S. Saltwater Strategists

(Wide World Features)

New figure in the field of advisers on war strategy is William Daniel (Old Bill) Leahy, new chief of staff to President Roosevelt. This veteran seadog has served in three wars, the Boxer Rebellion and the Philippine Insurrection.

He entered Annapolis because no appointment was open at West Point, but capped a brilliant career by becoming chief of U. S. Navy forces in 1937. He holds the Navy Cross and numerous awards from a Latin American nations.

Diplomat too, "the sailor's admiral" was given the difficult job of ambassador to Marshal Petain's Vichy government. Returning after wife's death, Leahy said he had a "high personal regard" for Petain, thought French were pro-American.

Friendly and personable, Leahy carries own tray, waits in line at the Navy Department cafeteria. Strict disciplinarian but popular with his men, he is a hard worker, likes the outdoors, once was an able golfer.

Aggressive on sea or ashore, he once told gunnery officers, "just decide whether you are going to shoot. There is no such thing as half-shooting a gun." He has son following in his footsteps in the Navy.

Gone are most of the men who were with Leahy on the Oregon's historic dash around the Horn to join the battle of Santiago. Now, at 67, he has again a front-row seat for another spectacular period of history.

RETURN PASTORS

BUCYRUS—Evangelical pastors of Crawford county were returned to their pastorates at the 105th annual Ohio Evangelical conference which was concluded in Marion this week.

Returning pastors include the Rev. L. E. Dietzel of Bucyrus First church; Rev. N. M. Keck of Brokensword, and Rev. E. A. Rothgeb of the Zion and Harmony churches.

The temperature at Murmansk is about the same as that of Moscow, 930 miles farther south.

Oregon Beavers Open Attack On Private Homes

BEND, Ore. —(INS)— Beavers, staging an all-out offensive against trees and shrubbery in Bend and nearby communities, have forced residents of his central Oregon town to adapt a second line of defense—second only to defense against the Japs.

The beavers, from the nearby Deschutes river, have apparently thrown caution and strategy to the winds and are staging frontal attacks on private residents and public parks indiscriminately. Hasty bulwarks have been thrown up by civilians and city officials in the form of wire netting around the bases of valunable shade trees, but the busy little animals are persistent, reports from the combat zone indicate. One home owner found a beaver gnawing on a tree on his front lawn. The animal was not frightened when caught in the beams of a flashlight, the citizen reported, but went right on with his work.

So far activities of the night raiders have been confined to smaller cottonwoods and poplars, but officials are becoming gray-haired over the possibility of an attack on the giant pines in public Drake park.

MISSES TRAINS, HITS A COP

ROSEVILLE, Cal.—(U.P.)—A feat of fancy zig-zag driving enabled William Francis Johnson, 21, to avoid two trains coming in opposite directions at a Roseville crossing. But luck was against him. On the other side of the tracks he crashed into another car occupied by Special Police Officer M. E. Reed.

SENIOR HIGH TO GIVE COURSE IN PRE-FLIGHT AERONAUTICS

Pre-flight aeronautics which will shorten the period of specialized training necessary for entrance into military or commercial aviation after graduation from high school will be the only new course introduced in Mansfield Senior high school this year.

The Mansfield board of education last month voted to include the course in the high school curricula for seniors and it will be made available to 15 or 18 students who can meet the requirements. No new teachers or equipment will be needed for the course, to be offered by the physics department.

One unit of credit will be awarded upon satisfactory completion of the course for which two units of mathematics and one unit of physics are required for enrollment. The recommended unit of physics may be taken concurrently with the pre-aeronautics course.

Sanctioned by the state department of education and the Civil Aeronautics Authority the training will offer meteorology, aerodynamics, air navigation, communications, aircraft engines, structure and design and civil air regulations.

Supt. W. L. Miller said he believed the class would probably be composed of boys for the most part, but so far enrollment is not complete.

The length of one degree of longitude along the equator is 69.2 miles.

UNIQUE BIKE CARRIED 10

WILKES-BARRE, Pa. —(U.P.)— Nearly swamped by the current welter of motoring restrictions, members of Wilkes-Barre's old West End Wheelmen's club are thinking wistfully of the bicycle they once owned. Now on display at the Ford Museum in Dearborn, Mich., the unique bike was capable of carrying 10 persons.

Food Wins War, Revived Slogan In Effect Again

STATE COLLEGE, Pa.—(INS)—Recalling that "food will win the war" was an effective slogan in 1917-18, Dean S. W. Fletcher, of the School of Agriculture of the Pennsylvania State College, said that the same slogan may be equally applicable during the present emergency.

As a part of its contribution to the nation's war effort, the school is studying the cost of producing farm commodities and human nutrition problems for use in planning diets for the armed forces and for civilians.

The extension division of the school has distributed more than 150,000 circulars on methods of increasing milk production, 75,000 leaflets on methods of increasing egg production, and more than 100,000 circulars on the home production and use of vegetables in connection with the national victory garden program.

DECLARES U. S. TANKS WILL GO FASTER, HIT HARDER THAN FOE

(By United Press)

WITH U. S. ARMY IN CALIFORNIA DESERT — American tanks going into battle this fall and winter will go farther and faster and hit harder and straighter than the tanks used by any other army in the world, Col. Donald B. Sager, head of the army desert warfare board, predicted today.

The new American tanks will carry revolutionary gun and armament improvements which will make them superior to any tanks now in use, Sager said.

Some of the American tanks may carry heavier guns than any ever mounted on any armored vehicle of any type, he said, adding that guns as large as the supporting guns on modern naval destroyers have been mounted "experimentally" on tanks.

Sager said powerful 150-mm guns moved on fast "tank-tracks" were standard equipment in the U. S. armored forces, and may be seeing action on various fronts within the near future.

Conference Delegates Drink Large Liquor Supply.

MEXICO CITY—(U.P.)—Delegates to the second Inter-American conference on agriculture drank up 7,000 pesos worth of liquor, wines, and beer provided by the Mexican government during their 10-day meeting here recently.

The government set aside one long hall of Chapultepec castle exclusively as a bar and sandwich counter for the delegates.

There are only 25,500 street cars in the U. S. and less than 10,000 elevated and subway cars.

CHAPTER IX

Waking in the middle of the night, staring at a square patch of star-spangled sky framed by her window, Amy thought passionately, "Now, I'll have to leave this place."

There were three reasons now for her going. The knowledge that Paul was engaged to Marcia had seemed more than enough, coupled with Frani's almost unbelievable rudeness. But now, those reasons paled into insignificance beside her third reason. How could she bear to be near Paul now? She despised him, she told herself hotly.

"A man who would let a girl support him for three years!"

She thought of Marcia, cool and sweet and—sincere. Nobody's fool either. Marcia wouldn't have done that for a man unless he'd given her some reason to think he loved her and that she had a right to.

Of course conditions were abnormal nowadays, Amy reasoned. Trained men had been out of jobs sometimes. Sometimes girls had big jobs. In colleges, in business, back in Washington, girls and men went places Dutch treat. That seemed the natural and sensible thing to do. Perhaps it was the same in life's larger issues.

If a man and a girl were engaged the girl might feel she wanted to use her money to help the man reach his goal. She might feel that by spending it on his education they could marry sooner. If a man were engaged to a girl, if he loved her, he might feel he could accept the gift for the sake of her happiness as well as his own. But she, Amy, would have respected Paul more if he hadn't accepted. No amount of thinking pro and con could alter that! But anyway Paul didn't love Marcia!

She thought of herself in his arms. And the lovely breathless moment when he'd kissed her. She closed her eyes tight, to squeeze back the tears. You didn't cry over a man you didn't respect. Or did you?

She saw Paul again the next morning. Another golden fall day, though flurries of wintry wind were swiftly sweeping the last leaves from the almost bare branches so that Daphne had to be zipped into a snowsuit in order to play in the garden.

They were having an impromptu French lesson. Daphne's playhouse, a tiny menage replete with everything a larger house might have, served as an object lesson. And Daphne was saying, La petite maison a deux fenetres — une, duex fenetres," pointing to the two windows as she spoke.

"Might a man get a job about this house?" a masculine voice asked in French.

Amy, squatting on the ground before Daphne's small doorway, looked up to see Paul smiling down upon her—that is, his mouth smiled. But his eyes questioned her. The hurt look in them made her heart turn to water.

Then memory prodded her sharply and she said fiercely in French, "No! This is Daphne's lesson hour."

"I won't disturb you again," he said coldly. Amy turned her back on him and pretended to be busy clearing leaves from the steps of the little house.

She didn't lift her eyes until she heard the gate slam. Then she looked about the great sunlit garden that was just about the emptiest, coldest place she'd ever seen and said gaily, "Come on, Daphne. Let's run."

After lunch Frani entered the nursery to say that Guy had telephoned to suggest that Amy take Daphne to the zoo that afternoon.

To her surprise Frani was delighted. "I used to love the zoo when I was little," she said. "Paul and I used to go. Not as often as we wanted to. Even street car fares counted with us. There used to be a monkey there, a big fellow who served at a table. We loved that. And there was an elephant named 'Lil.' I felt like crying when I read in the papers not so long ago that she'd died."

Frani was lovely in her eagerness. Amy suddenly could see her as she must have been—a blue-eyed, black-haired, vital little girl like Daphne, with a touch of the gamin in her perhaps. A queer family this — one moment they could do something so mean that you hated them. The next second they could be so frankly sweet that you blamed yourself for having thought of hating them.

"Perhaps you'd like to take Daphne for her first visit to the zoo yourself," Amy said.

"Oh, no," Frani said bitterly. "Guy'd think I was cheap and silly."

Amy was on the point of saying, "No, he wouldn't." But she remembered that Frani was her employer, and that it would be absurd for her to assume to know more about Frani's husband than Frani herself knew. So she didn't even tell Frani that Guy Dillingham had planned to come to the zoo. Why hadn't he told Frani? There seemed to be some queer lack of understanding between them.

Daphne's nap was shortened that afternoon. Frani had ordered one of their cars to be at the door at 2:30. She came out to see them off. She pressed a five-dollar bill into Amy's hand.

"This is to give her the time of her life. You'll probably think I've gone nuts but there's a funny little store I used to go to when I was small. It's on the way to the school I went to. They used to have boxes of pink popcorn with surprises in them. I want you to get one for Daphne. Marko," she nodded toward the chauffeur, "knows where it is."

Daphne had pink popcorn daubed all over her when Guy Dillingham found them in the lion house later. As she leaped upon him she planted a gob of it on the sleeve of his good-looking overcoat, sticking it together in a pleat.

"My wild wooly rough little lion cub," he said with a grin that made him look a little like the boyish portrait that hung in Paul's studio. "I hope you ladies haven't seen quite everything."

They hadn't seen the birds and so Guy introduced them to the beautiful gaudy screaming squawking tenants of the birdhouse. He made up amusing nonsensical little rhymes about each of them, the saucy little parrakeets, the long-legged pink flamingos, the toucan with his putsize beak, like a wooden ornament that had somehow got stuck on his face. But when they came to the pelican he said, "Nothing but the old classic will do for that fellow—'A wonderful bird is the pelican. His beak holds more than his belican. He—' What is the rest of that, Amy?"

His use of her given name startled Amy. But she saw he didn't realize he'd used it. And she managed to complete the rhyme.

Queer what a good time they had, considering that she'd awakened that morning with a heartbreak.

The only bit of unpleasantness came when Daphne had a tantrum—the first one since Amy had had charge of her. They had made the rounds and were idling along one of the pleasant zoo paths when Daphne said, "I want to feed my lollypop to the little brown monkey."

"No, old topper," her father said: "You aren't allowed to feed the monkeys."

The black eyebrows drew together in a fierce little frown. "I like him. He's so sweet. He looks like a little brown man. I want to give him my lollypop."

"No, darling," her father said gently. Amy loved the way his low, pleasant voice caressed the word "darling."

"I want to!" Daphne's face was getting red. Her mouth puckered.

"No!" he said firmly.

Daphne began to sob softly, watching him out of the corners of her eyes, then louder. She flung herself on the ground, kicking and screaming.

Guy Dillingham's face was crimson with embarrassment "What do you do?" he appealed to Amy.

"Daphne," Amy said in a practical offhand sort of voice.

Daphne stopped crying for a second, staring through her tears.

"Your father and I are going to sit down on that bench over there until you're through crying."

Daphne continued to stare, then she wailed.

"Daphne," Amy called from the bench. "Would you mind going into the brd house until you're through making all that noise? The birds won't mind because they're screaming, too. But we do."

Taken by surprise, Daphne moved toward the birdhouse. At the door she stopped and looked around.

"And Daphne," Amy said, "as soon as you get through crying and can show us a smiling face, will you come out? There are some other things we want to see."

Daphne retreated into the bird house, switching her short little skirts behind her.

A few moments later she came out, moving slowly toward them, head down, kicking the leaves in her path. Then suddenly she looked up, big crystal tears clinging to her lashes, her face wreathed in smiles.

Guy Dillingham's mouth twitched at one corner as though he were about to cry. "Thank you," he said to Amy. "You've worked a miracle. It's the first time this lion cub of mine has yielded to anyone. I hope you'll stay with us a long time."

"I'm leaving Saturday—tomorrow, that is," Amy answered. Then, seeing the consternation in his face, she wished she hadn't said it.

"But, Miss Tudor, we can't get along without you," he declared. "It's the first time Daphne has been really safe—cared for. This is the first time anyone, except myself, has really loved her."

CAN'T KEEP GRANDMA IN HER CHAIR
She's as Lively as a Youngster—Now her Backache is better

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

OPA to Fix Prices for 'on Hoof' Meat

BROADWAY

—By Dorothy Kilgallen

(Note: I love to hear Dinah Shore sing, and besides, I like her. So it's a pleasure to let her have her say in this space with or without music.—D. K.)

Dinah Shore Says—

I like tunes with "personality" to them. I mean songs like "Yes My Darling Daughter" and that new ballad "He Wears A Pair of Silver Wings." And hundreds of others, of course—but you get the idea. A song should invite you to sing it.

Many fans have asked me whether I prefer singing on the radio to singing for records, to singing in night clubs, to singing in theaters. The answer is yes. I prefer singing. Don't care where, how, or to whom. Give me a song that appeals to me, a good accompanist, and an audience that will listen with reasonable politeness, and I love to sing.

Each field of entertainment has its own problems, of course. For example, in the theater you stand back and give it everything you've got. In the broadcasting studio, you croon into the mike, as though there were only one person listening in. I usually keep my eyes on the studio engineer in his glass booth, while I sing into the mike. His face is my barometer—if it keeps smiling, then I'm on the beam, but when it breaks into a worrisome frown, then I know some note didn't register as it should have. In the theater, I guide myself in the same way by picking out some typical face down front and watching the reaction as the song progresses.

You've got to sing to somebody in particular, or your song won't sound as though it were meant for each one of your listeners. That's why I like to have studio audiences at my broadcasts. Gives me someone to throw my voice to when I get tired of watching the grinning man in the glass booth.

Maybe you'd like to know how I like Hollywood. Well, it's like this. Hollywood is Heaven with angles instead of angels. It's Miami Beach without the white sand. It's New York with trees. Hollywood is really a dream place, but you've got to be careful not to make it a nightmare. It's like champagne — easy to take, but hard to stop. And it makes a gal just as dizzy, if she doesn't keep her feet on the ground and her glass on the table. It's true that many eccentric people have made names in Hollywood, but who wants to be called names? Maybe you think that some of the screen stars act chilly to a newcomer because they're afraid of competition. Well, forget it. Everyone here has been just as friendly to me as—well, as your own mailman. Not that anybody here has anything to worry about—not from ME, anyway—but there's always been talk that Hollywood resents a newcomer. And I haven't found it so!

It may sound fishy to you, what with all the things to do in Hollywood, but I still get a kick out of going to the ball game. Yes, I can think of no finer time than a day in the grandstand, yelling "Kill the Umpire," "Slide, Kelly, Slide!" and "Take the Bum Out!" And when you throw in a bag of peanuts, a score card with a sharp pencil, and an empty seat in front of me—look out!

Who are my favorite singers? Well, I've learned enough to be diplomatic—sure I have my favorites, but I ain't a-tellin'. However, I got one of the biggest thrills of my life the other week when I sang a duet with Bing Crosby on the Gershwin Memorial Concert in the Biltmore Bowl and on the radio. I think he's incredible! I also go for Ella Fitzgerald and Woody Herman and Judy Garland and Maxine Sullivan. And, of course, Ethel Waters and Barry Wood. And one of my especial favorites—Mildred Bailey. But, as I say, I like dozens more. Your list is no doubt as good as mine!

HOLLYWOOD

—By Robbin Coons

HOLLYWOOD—This week Mary Martin is "not working." She can sing "Time On My Hands" and mean it.

Coons

And what does Mary Martin do with her time? It goes like this:

Monday: Breakfast at 7, an hour with infant daughter Heller — (she's bound to be an actress, the way she muggs already,") — before she puts Heller out to sun. A session of menu-planning with the cook. (If there is a cook. Once Mary came home from the studio to hostess a dinner party, to be greeted by the nurse with news the other servants had already gone into defense jobs and the nurse was on her way. Mary set the table, husband Richard Halliday brought in flowers, they called a caterer—and dinner went on as usual.)

Menus are planned half a week in advance. Then Mary "flies" to market, "flies" back for lunch with a reporter (this one) after which she goes to NBC to talk with her music arrangers. Dinner at 7:30—she hoped.

TUESDAY: Breakfast ditto, Heller ditto, to Paramount at 9 for still pictures, to talk over new picture "Canadian Capers" with the producer, more stills until 5 o'clock when she rehearses for "Command Performance," the radio show short-waved to service men over the world. Dinner in Hollywood, then "Command Performance." Home.

Wednesday: Voice lesson at 9, lunch, and "fly" to rehearsal for Thursday's broadcast, meet writers on her script. Session with the dressmaker, have hair and nails "done." The Hallidays dine out.

Thursday: Voice lesson again, to NBC early to rehearse broadcast, then broadcast.

Friday: To Paramount for color photographs, changing wardrobe and hair-do ad infinitum.

Saturday: Victory Committee assignment to some desert army camp. Gone all day.

Sunday: A day of rest. Mrs. Halliday gets overwhelmed with domesticity, decides to scrub everything. Mr. Halliday decides to scrub the roof (glass) of the sun room.

THEN there are the weeks Mary Martin is working. She does all the same things, only begins at 6 a. m. and is not home until 7:30. She takes her voice lessons at lunchtime. She snatches time off to get to the doctor for her iron "shot" — she's trying to gain weight. She finds time for one or more of her proteges—Marjorie Garland, Jean Porter, Zora Grey, etc.

She sees her dressmaker, and shops for hats. She shops for groceries by telephone from the set. One day she finished work at 6:30, went to Riverside minus dinner for a camp broadcast, was home at 12 to be up at 6 a. m.

And it's a funny thing, but she thrives on it.

WARN PUBLIC FORCED SAVING, STIFF TAX DUE

Economists Say Steps Vital To Roosevelt Plan of Stabilization.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — Government economists warned the public today to prepare for drastic tax and savings legislation early in 1943.

Such steps, they said, were almost inevitable in connection with the stabilization of farm prices and wages which President Roosevelt has announced will be undertaken soon.

One economist, Prof. Alvin H. Hansen of Harvard university, who is a special consultant of the federal reserve board on inflation and other matters, put it this way:

"We are piling up an avalanche of purchasing power and we ought to be building a dam to hold it. I think the pending tax bill (about $6,300,000,000 of new taxes) ought to be passed as soon as possible and about in January we ought to be drafting much steeper taxes, compulsory savings and other measures."

A treasury expert, who declined to be quoted, said, "Wage and farm price stabilization, taxes, savings, price ceilings, rationing are all necessary to prevent inflation, which means a rise in the cost of living. If the president puts the emphasis at the moment on wages and farm prices, don't get the idea that the other things won't get attention, too."

From the budget bureau, came this reminder: "Every 30 days we are spending more money than the government ever spent before in any previous 30 days in history. This can't go on indefinitely without some steps to prevent all this money being used to bid up the cost of living."

Prof. Hansen suggested the problem of keeping down the cost of living should be divided, roughly, into two parts.

One, to hold down the actual cost of goods. Stabilizing wages and farm prices, he explained, fits into this effort.

The second would be to hold down the quantity of money or purchasing power which can be spent for goods, because people with surplus money are apt to bid up prices, regardless of costs. Taxes, war bonds and other savings divert extra money which might be used to bid up prices.

No ready made tax and savings schemes were offered by the economists, but under one plan they discussed a fixed percentage of everybody's income would be taken by the government, part of the money being credited to taxes and the other part to war bonds redeemable after the war.

75-Year-Old Union Veteran Faces Vote on Position at Convention.

(By International News Service)

COLUMBUS — With both factions predicting victory, the fight for the $5,000 secretary-treasurer post of the Ohio Federation of Labor comes to a climax late today when the 58th annual convention elects officers for the next three years.

Veteran Tom Donnelly, Columbus, who has spent 50 of his 75 years in organized labor and who has held the post since 1913, faces his first challenge in that time from Phil Hannah, youthful representative of the Cleveland local of the filling station attendants' union.

The credentials committee reported that there were 675 official delegates having a total of 1,088 votes, so that 545 votes are needed to elect. The Hannah faction claims to have more than 600 votes assured, the majority of them in the 300-vote bloc from Cleveland and the 190-vote bloc from Cincinnati.

Donnelly backers point to their candidate's long record and the backing of several locals, including the 110 votes promised by the laborers union.

The fight stems from early last spring, when Donnelly refused to retire on a $5,000 annual pension.

The Hannah faction is backing a slate of candidates to the nine-member executive board which, if entirely successful, would place six new faces at the controlling table. Three present members backed are President Michael Lyden, of Youngstown, unopposed and assured of re-election; William Finegan, Cleveland, now a sixth vice-president and a candidate for first vice president, and John Breidenbach, Dayton, now third vice president and a candidate for second vice president.

Asks $10,000 for Injuries Suffered In Auto Accident

A personal injury action for $10,265 had been filed in common pleas court today against William Warner, Mansfield R. D. 4, as the result of an automobile accident last Jan. 27, on U. S. Route 42, one mile northeast of Mansfield.

Plaintiff in the suit is Fred B. Burkett, Lakewood, who contends he suffered multiple injuries when his car collided with one driven by Warner.

Accusing Warner of negligence as a driver, Burkett states in his petition that Warner backed his car unexpectedly onto the highway from a driveway into the path of Burgett's car.

Burkett states that he was confined to Mansfield General hospital for a time and later was taken to the Marine hospital at Cleveland.

Representing Burkett are Attorneys W. M. Weldon and Henry Huston, Mansfield, and the firm of Payer, Bleiweiss and Cook of Cleveland.

WALK OFF JOBS

TIFFIN — (INS) — Their demands for a 10-cents-per-hour wage increase allegedly refused, 375 workers at two basic Refractories, Inc., plants, Maple Grove and Bettsville, walked off their jobs.

OHIOANS RAP CHARGE COLLEGES BECOME DRAFT EVADER REFUGES

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS—Three Ohio educators took exception today to published assertions of President Robert M. Hutchins of the University of Chicago that the government's "enlisted reserve" system in effect converts college campuses into "game refuges" for draft dodgers.

The plan permits a student to join reserves of the armed forces. He then is in service, without pay, free to pursue his studies until and unless an extreme emergency should arise. Upon graduation, the collegian is eligible for officer training.

Hutchins, in the Saturday Evening Post, said as long as the student remains in college "and passes the national examination, he can avoid conscription."

The plan, he wrote, "is not wise for the colleges because it makes them look like game refuges for the duration." The program is undemocratic, he added, since it covers only those able to attend college—"those who have the most money rather than the highest intelligence."

Dr. Harvey H. Davis, vice president of Ohio State university, commented:

"It may be that the university is a 'bomb shelter,' but it is a place where men are getting ready for service, not where they are hiding from service."

Said Dr. Otto Mees, president of Capital university, Columbus:

"Any student who is here for the purpose of escaping service to the nation, either expressed or implied, is not welcome on this campus."

Dr. J. Ruskin Howe, president of Otterbein college, Westerville, declared:

"College men have always been far ahead of the general population in their response to their country's call. . . .

"It is surprising to hear Dr. Hutchins' assumption that under the reserve plan any banker's boy could go to college and automatically be deferred from military service for the duration. . . . Surely he knows that any student in this plan is subject to immediate induction . . . if he falls below the academic standards required by his college. . . ."

ILL FIVE WEEKS

Mrs. Florence Williams, 88, Dies at Loudonville.

LOUDONVILLE—Mrs. Florence Williams, 88, died late yesterday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Frank Gruver, after a five weeks illness.

Mrs. Williams was a lifelong resident of nearby Nashville until a year ago when she moved to Loudonville. She was a member of the Nashville Christian church.

Survivors besides her daughter, are two sons, Loren of Akron and Willis Williams of Ashland; 16 grandchildren, 32 great grandchildren and two great-great-grandchildren.

The body was removed to the Swank funeral home where friends may call until Saturday at 2:30 p. m. when services will be held at the Nashville Christian church with Rev. W. E. Martin officiating. Burial will be in Nashville cemetery.

DIES AT AGE 73 IN FARM HOME

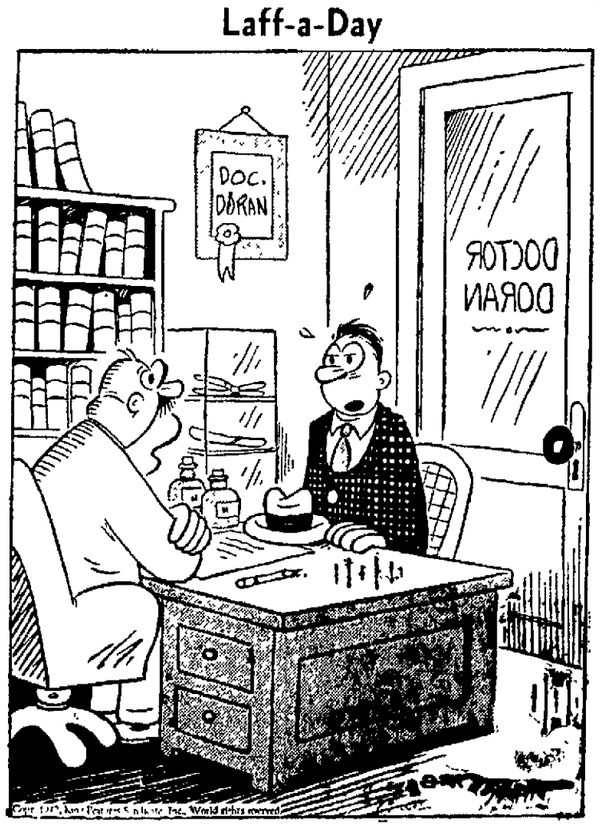
John Keesy Stricken Today; Funeral Plans Incomplete.

WILLARD — John Keesy, 73, died today at his farm home, west of Willard.

He is survived by his widow, Pearl Keesy, and two daughters, Mrs. Ortha Sage of Willard and Mrs. Iona Hoffman of Lakewood.

Secor's Funeral home is in charge of arrangements. The time of the funeral has not been set.

Laff-a-Day



"I've got insomnia bad, Doctor. I can't even sleep when it's time to get up."

A picture taken by a Shelby couple, which won a first prize award of $100 in a New York photographic competition recently, is on display with other pictures in the window of the Sherwin-Williams store on Park avenue west. The pictures are owned by Mr. and Mrs. George Walker of Shelby, who practice photography as a hobby. The prize-winning picture, "The End of Time," shows a baby lying asleep on a rug. The Walkers are also exhibiting another print which won an award in a traveling display which visited 12 cities.

After more than a month's vacation from activity, Mansfield Girl Scouts are awaiting the first fall bulletin from local headquarters. Outside of complete information on the purchase of war stamps for a national victory fund to be used to take care of children after the war the bulletin, among other things, will list the Scout leaders' training session in Ross-Hocking State park, Sept. 25-27. Miss Eleanor Bond, local Scout executive secretary, will conduct the course for leaders of intermediate Scouts.

Mrs. Marguerite Cook of Shelby has a night-blooming cereus plant which has gone all-out during the war in observing war saving time by blooming both night and day. The plant, according to all garden experts, is supposed to bloom only at night. Recently however, the plant failed to close during the daytime and has continued to bloom around the clock.

The trucks which have been collecting scrap materials in Mansfield are going to be idle tomorrow because not enough calls to pick up scrap have been received during the past two days to keep them busy. Mrs. Edith Metcalf, who is in charge of the civilian defense office in the courthouse, said she would continue to take calls and she hoped to have enough to send the trucks out again Saturday or Monday. Although one of the big bins at Central park is heaped high with scrap metal, the other has only a small amount of old rubber and rags in it. The county salvage committee wants scrap rubber, rags, burlap, and ropes as well as metal.

RITES FRIDAY

Bucyrus Woman Dies After an Illness of Two Years.

BUCYRUS — Funeral services will be held Friday at 2:30 p. m. at the Munz Funeral home for Mrs. John Pfleiderer, 68, who died Wednesday at her home east of Bucyrus following an illness of two years duration. Rev. Karl Mohrhoff will officiate and burial will be in Oakwood cemetery.

A native of Liberty township, Crawford county, where she was born July 24, 1874, she was married Sept. 30, 1897. She was a member of St. Paul's Lutheran church at Sulphur Springs.

Surviving are the husband; four children, Milton of Columbus, Ruth, Paul, and Eunice at home; four brothers, Joseph Yeiter of Ridgeton, O., Z. J. Yeiter of Columbus, John Yeiter of Sandusky township, Crawford county, and Clemens Yeiter of Bucyrus, and four sisters, Mrs. Katherine Walther, Ridgeton, Mrs. Otto Harer and Mrs. Oro Harer, both of Lykens, and Mrs. C. E. Shipman of Akron.

HIT FOUR SHIPS

Allied Bombers Damage German Convoy Off Dieppe.

LONDON—(AP)—Three German ships of 1,500 tons each were damaged severely and a smaller vessel was hit today by Hurricane bombers which attacked a five-ship convoy lying off Dieppe, the air ministry announced.

The bombers were escorted by Spitfire fighters.

EXPERTS SEE PLAN TO HALT 'BIDDING UP'

Schedules, Expected This Week, Will Be Stop-Gap For Ceilings.

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON—Livestock experts said today that prior to placing ceilings on live animals, the price administration will set a standard price—the present average—which packers must pay for "on the hoof" meats.

The plan for standard prices, these experts said, will be released by the OPA before the end of the week.

Government officials, outlining the plan, said "it would use as the basis for hog prices what is presently paid at the center of the corn belt; let's say Iowa."

"With these set prices, for all livestock," they said, "large packing companies will not be able to bid prices so high that small packers will be forced out of business."

Officials working on the standard schedules added that prices—thus based on the center of distribution—would be adjusted upward, as the livestock is sold farther from the center of production to allow for transportation costs.

P. O. Wilson, of Chicago, speaking for a livestock producers delegation which came to Washington to oppose any ceiling program, said of the plan:

"It seems to me that it offers the best program for eliminating discrepancies which now exist between the packers."

He also said that OPA officials working on livestock ceiling plans had promised to show them to a conference of producers before they are put into effect.

OPA announced that "definite plans" are being made to place ceilings over live hog prices and that similar action is contemplated in the near future for cattle prices.

Wilson said he believed that the first results to come from this announcement would be the standard price schedule.

Gypsy Rose Lee Puts on a Veil! ---For Wedding

NEW YORK—(INS)—Gypsy Rose Lee, who raised the art of "strip-tease" from burlesque to performances with higher box office prices is about to enter into her second marriage venture.

The groom will be Alexander Kirkland, actor, who is currently starring in "Junior Miss." The wedding is scheduled "at the stroke of midnight," Sunday in Miss Lee's home at Highland Mills, N. Y.

Because Kirkland and Miss Lee, who is appearing in a feature role of "Star and Garter," must be in New York for Monday night performances, their honeymoon trip will be of short duration.

"We're going to take an automobile trip," Miss Lee announced to friends last night. "We're going as far as time and our gas rations will permit."

TAXES SHORT OF GOAL BY $7,000

Treasurer Looks To Shelby To Put Collection Over $650,000.

Richland county real estate tax collections today were only $7,000 short of the $650,000 goal set by County Treasurer Charles C. Payne who predicted that receipts will reach or exceed that mark within a few days.

Two collectors at Shelby have not reported their receipts, and their collections alone should total more than $7,000, Payne said.

Payne said he hoped to reduce the real estate tax delinquencies by at least $10,000 this collection period which would make the collection exceed the tax charge for the final half of the year. Delinquencies at the opening of the collection amounted to $153,000.

LE HAVRE PORT DESTROYED BY ALLIED PLANES

Reports in Switzerland Say Rouen Locomotive Shops Also Smashed.

(By United Press)

BERNE, Switzerland — Private advices from authentic sources in unoccupied France report that Allied planes had knocked out the port of Le Havre, in peace time the third ranking port in France, that Allied troops, planes and warships had inflicted heavy damage in the raid on Dieppe and that United States flying fortresses had smashed the big locomotive repair shops at Rouen.

Two Allied raids on Le Havre destroyed the last workable lock gates, according to the advices, with the result that the entire port is useless to the Germans.

Without the locks, the ship basins dry each time the tide goes out.

In last Wednesday's raid on Dieppe, the advices said, the Allied forces destroyed the fortified Grand Hotel Regina and tobacco factory and started more than 40 fires in other centers with incendiary bombs.

The flying fortresses, in their raid on Rouen, 33 miles inland from Dieppe, which was a prelude to the raid because it struck at the nearest big railroad reinforcement center, scored a direct hit on the Sotteville locomotive repair shop, the advices said.

(The Allied air forces are centering their raids in occupied France on railroads and railroad repair and factory centers in order to destroy rolling stock which Germany needs desperately.)

Mayor Discovers That Sugar And Salt Look Alike

MARION —(INS)— If he ever has to register for sugar rationing again, Mayor Russell C Snare, of Marion, is going to do a little tasting.

In Mrs. Snare's absence, the mayor registered for himself and his wife. He went through the kitchen cupboards, computed the amount of sugar on hand and reported it to the registar.

Mrs. Snare returned home and asked where he had found all the sugar reported on hand. He showed her

"Well it looked like sugar to me I didn't taste it, how was I to know it was salt?" he said

BIO-MINERAL FOR BETTER HEALTH!

MEDICAL SCIENCE for many centuries has believed in the curative properties of minerals. Now, as never before, doctors are stressing the importance of Minerals. The cry is: MINERALS!!! MINERALS!!! We are told that "WE ARE WHAT WE EAT!" Foods lacking in minerals are often the cause of many ailments, such as: Teeth decaying, eyesight failing, nervousness, constipation, general run-down condition and the above mentioned diseases.

BIO-MINERAL is a rich solution of Natural, Life-Giving minerals. Pharmacists-chemists do not make it. It comes from the depths of the earth, Nature's laboratory. Is not Mineral Oil, physic or drug . . . but a group of highly concentrated minerals—the same minerals of the famous springs—the oldest and most reliable remedy for Rheumatism, Arthritis, Stomach and Kidney disorders, recommended by doctors, hospitals, sanatoriums, naturalists and specialists.

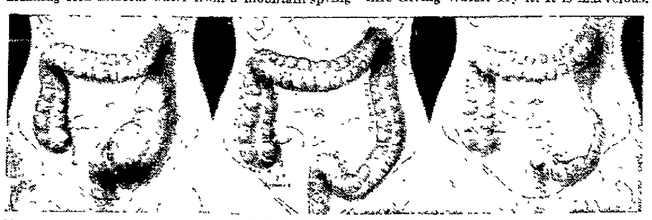
BIO-MINERAL is NOT Mineral Oil, physic or drug. Contains NO alcohol, NO harmful drugs, NO dope. NO oil . . . NOT a SINGLE habit forming ingredient. It works in your intestines, neutralizing, throwing away waste material, gas, toxins and bloating. Not like physics, oils and catharties do . . . but in a natural, harmless, painless way—doing a real "house-cleaning."

With Your Own Eyes! See and Believe!

IF YOU SUFFER occasional con-tipation and other common stomach disorders, watch your elimination from your bowels after taking BIO-MINERAL. In 2 or 3 days, the waste, black as coal and hard as rock may break from the walls of the colon, and you will see it in the stool. It is almost unbelievable that such waste could be in your intestines UNTIL YOU SEE IT!

After 3 DAYS examine your urine. You may see small pieces of white stone, threads and crystal-like matter, which should not be in your system—POISONS—coming out, relieving you! These poisons, collecting there probably for years, like rust in an old iron pipe, were weakening your kidneys and ruining your digestive system.

WE ASK YOU to try BIO-MINERAL to SEE with your own eyes! . . . the relief you get from your ailments. You may UPROOT and drive them OUT of your system. Regardless of how long you have been suffering. It takes only 3 days to prove it. To SEE—NOT to guess the results. BIO-MINERAL is easy to take and safe for delicate organisms. Diluted in water, is like drinking rich mineral water from a mountain spring—Life-Giving Water. Try it! It is marvelous.



This affected colon is often the cause of many ailments, leading to serious complications. It should be corrected USE BIO-MINERAL

AN IDEAL HEALTHY COLON With BIO-MINERAL, you can keep the colon clean and healthy, eliminating the accumulated poisonous matter

A serious chronic condition. Constipation, piles, colitis, appendicitis, other diseases may be developed. Beware! USE BIO-MINERAL

WARTIME BOOM HITS HISTORIC SOUTHERN CITY

Petersburg, Virginia, Overrun With War Workers and U. S. Soldiers.

(By United Press)

PETERSBURG, Va.—Historic Petersburg, scene of the south's last stand and famed for its well-kept Civil war shrines, today is over-run with thousands of troops and wartime workmen.

"Splitting at the seams" was the way one social worker described the city after the boom created by the army's biggest quartermaster school at nearby Camp Lee had severely taxed civic and social facilities.

The city's normal population was 30,631 in 1940, but that was before an army of construction workers poured in to resurrect a vast army base on the site of old Camp Lee, a World War I cantonment named for Gen. Robert E. Lee, who once bloodily defended the land on which it lies.

Behind the workers came the soldiers — by the thousands. Camp Lee's strength has been variously estimated as high as 33,000 men, most of whom are undergoing training in the Quartermaster Corps Technical school's huge shops and sprawling buildings. Pre-draft shoemakers teach draftees the intricacies of their trade, as do mechanics, bakers, tailors, and the rest of the men that "Keep 'Em Rolling."

Six miles away, at Hopewell, Va., acres of buildings and scientifically tangled pipelines surge with capacity war production.

The resultant war boom shook every stratum of the city's economic life. Wages were high and labor was scarce, although hundreds came in to take the boom-time jobs. Many camped in trailers on the former sites of World War I laborer-barracks. Rents rocketed and prices went up. Juke joints, cafes and amusement halls —all of filmsy, temporary construction—went up overnight.

Guest homes that once catered to history-conscious tourists were crammed with army officers and defense workers. Houses rented at almost any price for any kind of house, despite efforts of the federally-sponsored local rent committee.

Police and the ever-present M.P.'s report comparatively little disorder on the teeming streets. Two newly dedicated USO centers, one for white soldiers, the other for Negroes, have helped the recreation problem, but the khaki-clad enlisted men still pack the streets on week-ends, and line the highways to Richmond, 25 miles away. Camp Lee authorities say 4,500 men get week-end passes each week, on an average.

Out from town, Camp Lee sprawls across acres once trampled by warring Confederates and Yankees. Now, field maneuvers take southern farmhand and northern millhand squarely alongside Petersburg National Military park, where the history of the south's last stand is peacefully enshrined under watchful federal care.

Already choked with the Camp Lee boom, Petersburg is bearing part of the brunt of another. Construction of Camp Pickett at Blackstone, 35 miles west, has brought more hundreds of workmen to seek living quarters here. And now, thousands of trainees of the army's medical corps are housed in permanent buildings at Camp Pickett, swelling the total even more.

Although it's World War II that has boomed her economy and crowded her strets, Petersburg hasn't forgotten her share in other wars.

Most of all she clings to her historic role as a last citadel of the crumbling Confederacy.

Visitors are still reminded of, and taken to the Civil War Shrines. More aptly than any other single action illustrated the spirit of Petersburg, when Camp Lee soldiers trooped in for this year's army day parade, the soldiers of today, and yesterday, were led by Homer Atkins—an aging, but still spry, leader in the fast-thinning ranks of the Confederate veterans.

Lonely Vigil Over His Pal's Body

A small black and tan terrier keeps watch over the body of his playmate who was crushed to death beneath the wheels of a truck, in Washington, D. C. Employes in the nearby War Department building witnessed the lone vigil which was kept until a pound truck removed the body. The dog whined to be taken along. He was lifted into the truck and taken to the district pound where he will be kept pending the arrival of its owner.

Eastern Arkansas Button Industry Revived By War

JONESBORO, Ark. — (INS) — Prosperity has returned to thousands of riverfolk who dwell along the banks of five streams in eastern Arkansas as the war-necessitated ban on steel zippers and clasps gives re-birth to the one-time million-dollar pearl button industry.

Early and late, along the banks of the Black, White, St. Francis, Spring and Strawberry rivers, men, women, boys and girls are working to supply those pretty pearl buttons which will adorn milady's summer frocks, and probably a majority of feminine clothing for the duration.

Today, some 15 plants in eigh Arkansas communities are kep busy in this rejuvenated industi which first zoomed to tremendou proportions about the turn of th century, only to fade out wit "modernization" of garments with the extensive use of zippers in re cent years.

Center of the industry is at Newport, Ark., on the banks of the White river where five plants are located Huge stock-piles of gleaming shells attest to the activity in the area.

Visitors to Colorado have a selection of altitudes in a two-mile range, from 3,385 feet, low point on the eastern plains, to 14,431 feet, at the top of Mt. Elbert, the nation's second highest peak.

NAVAJOS HAVE PHOENIX MART FOR BLANKETS

Estimate 10,000 Saddle Covers Sold By Indians.

(By United Press)

PHOENIX, Ariz.—The aggressive foresight of two Phoenix men has resulted in the shifting of the Navajo rug and saddle blanket capital to Phoenix.

The shift, which has been developing during the past two years, was accomplished largely through the efforts of C. A. Wheeler, a trader in the Navajo Indian country, and Ed Harris, former rug salesman.

Wheeler had been hauling produce and merchandise to the Navajo reservation. Since the truck was returning empty, the blankets and rugs provided a pay haul back to Phoenix.

"Last year we brought out of the reservation and shipped from Phoenix between 8,000 and 10,000 saddle blankets," Harris said. "I estimate this was 85 or 90 per cent of all the Indians wove. We handle rugs, too, but not on as heavy a scale as the blankets."

Blanket colors run to wilder and more vivid color combinations than are found in the rugs. The standard pattern, although there are seldom any identical designs, is the "storm," which starts with a square in the center, representing a cloud, and jagged streaks of lightning extending to the four corners, where it usually strikes four other squares, representing various things on earth.

Probably 12,000 Indians are weavers and the blankets are gathered from 75 trading posts over the reservation. A few years ago most of the Navajo weavers' products were distributed from Gallup, N. Mex.

About half of the Indians use native-developed dyes while the others have switched to commercial dyes since they were first introduced on the reservatlaon 50 to 60 years ago.

Some of the best blankets made today are a mixture of wool and mohair. The Indians learned to use mohair in 1931 when they were unable to sell the shearings from their goats.

Harris said, "We expect another big year in mohair blankets, because the shutdown of the automobile industry has cut off the principal market for mohair. Last year the price was way up and the Indians did not use it much for blankets."

CANNONS GO FOR BULLETS

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla.—(U.P.)—Cannons and caissons, used as ornaments at the Veterans of Foreign Wars' office here, are going back into service here for the first time since the Spanish-American war. They will be disposed as scrap metal for bombers and bullets.

REGISTERS, ALTHOUGH 66

PORTLAND, Me.—(U.P.)—Though he said his age was 66, Francis E. Morse of Brattleboro, Vt., insisted on registering with those between 44 and 64 before the draft board here. Draft officials admitted there was no law to prohibit his action, but wrote "voluntary" on his papers.

BANKERS AND FARMERS MIGHT NOT AGREE

If we asked a hundred bankers a certain question, their answers might be pretty much alike.

If we asked a hundred farmers a certain question, their answers might be pretty much alike.

But if we asked 50 bankers and 50 farmers the same question, their answers might be quite different. However, finding "an average opinion" in a community is not as difficult as it might seem. All that is necessary is to get enough different kinds of people to answer the same question. Then "the law of averages" works.

The value of "the law of averages" is that it has been proved to be absolutely accurate. It may surprise you to learn that in scientific research efforts to learn just what various communities think, it has been proved thousands of times that when several hundred people have been asked the same question, an accurate "law of averages" answer is arrived at which remains exactly the same (within 3%) if hundreds of thousands of different kinds of people are asked that same question.

Don't ask us why this is so. We simply know that it is.

SOLDIER, BRIDE LEAVE FOR VIRGINIA TODAY

Miss Ruth Bauer Weds Corp. Richard Pittman In Lutheran Parsonage Monday; He's Stationed at Fort Story.

MISS RUTH ELEANOR BAUER, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Bauer, 389 Auburn street, became the bride of Corp. Richard G. Pittman of Fort Story, Va., Monday afternoon. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Pittman, 518 Woodland avenue. Rev. C. A. Portz performed the single ring ceremony at 2:30 o'clock in the parsonage of St. Mark's Lutheran church.

Attending the couple were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Pittman, brother and sister-in-law of the bridegroom. The bride was attired in a beige linen suit with luggage tan accessories and a corsage of Talisman roses. A powder blue dress was worn by Mrs. Pittman, whose accessories were navy blue. She had a corsage of red rosebuds.

The wedding supper was served buffet style at the home of the bride's parents Monday evening. Only the immediate families were present. The table was centered with a large, tiered wedding cake.

Before his induction into the army, Corp. Pittman was employed by the Ohio Brass company. Mrs. Pittman was graduated from Mansfield Senior high school and the Mansfield Business Training school. At the time of her marriage she was employed as cashier at the Liberty shoe store. The couple will leave for Virginia today. Mrs. Pittman will reside at Virginia Beach which is near Fort Story.

Party Given for Miss Briich at Leland Hotel

Hostesses for a miscellaneous shower at the Mansfield-Leland hotel Wednesday evening were Mrs. Robert Miller and Miss Elizabeth Leap. The honoree was Miss Katherine Briich, bride-elect of Richard E. Creveling of Ashland. Three tables of bridge were in play.

Prizes were awarded to Miss Eleanor Ropp and Mrs. Robert Morrow, who presented them to the honoree. The hostesses gave Miss Briich a corsage of pink rosebuds. Luncheon was served at small tables at the conclusion of the card games. Miss Briich and Mr. Creveling will be married in the parsonage of St. Peter's Catholic church on Sept. 5.

SOCIETY & CLUBS

Mrs. C. Sattler Is Re-Elected Into Office

Members of the Women's Relief Corps, No. 26, met in Memorial hall last evening with Mrs. Bessie Buchanan presiding. The national and departmental general orders concerning the national encampment of the Grand Army on Sept. 13-16 in Indianapolis, Ind., were read to the group.

It was decided to hold a rummage sale and an imaginary bake sale. Mrs. Ida Hunter, president of the sewing circle of the Women's Relief corps, reported on the picnic held previous to the meeting.

Mrs. Carl Sattler, who attended the Ohio Civil War Veterans' association in Xenia, Aug. 22 and 23, told about the interesting happenings at the Children's home. Officers elected were: Rev. William Hooper, president, from Columbus; Thomas Ridenour, vice president, Crestline; John Bennett, second vice president, Waynefield; and Mrs. Sattler was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

Sept. 9 will be the next meeting in Memorial hall.

Miss Frasz Gives Party Wednesday

Honoring Miss Alvern Bates, who will become the bride of Alfred Sneeringter on Sept. 5, Miss Eleanor Frasz entertained last evening at the home of Mrs. Marvin Grabler, 596 Bigelow road. The evening was spent in making a bride's book. Prizes in contests were won by Mrs. Arthur Hoover, Mrs. Ray Beal, Mrs. Ray Bush and Mrs. Robert Zaebst.

A shower of personal gifts was given to Miss Bates. The hostess presented the honoree with a corsage. Each of the small tables at which the luncheon was served, was centered with a tall pink taper encircled at the base by white daisies.

Sorority Seniors Receive Gifts

Hostess to the 24 members of Delta Sigma Zeta sorority last evening was Carol Hosler, 544 Highland avenue, assisted by Mary Lou Kuhle. This was a special meeting for the senior girls in high school, who received monogrammed billbolds from their sisters.

Plans were made for a rush tea the afternoon of Sept. 20 at the home of Shirley Anson, 308 Park avenue west. Next regular meeting will be Sept. 10 with Marilyn Gernhardt, 575 Marion avenue.

Yeomen (F) '17 Had Problem on What to Wear

By MARGARET KERNODLE
(Wide World Features Writer)

The WAVES of 1942 may be surprised to learn that their older sisters, the Yeomen (F) of 1917, startled the capital with the short skirts of their uniforms.

My dears, they were actually ankle-revealing! The Yeomen (F)—F for female — said that some smart navy man decided sweep-the-floor fashions were unmilitary. So the hems hiked up.

Women failed to fall for feminine uniforms as fast then as they do now. It was downright difficult to get the girls into uniform. They liked their frills. Then somebody in the navy dug up the idea of drilling the petticoat sailors and of holding inspections. Flowered hats didn't fit inspection fashion, nor did high-heeled pumps pound pavements comfortably during drills. The women soon went for uniforms with enthusiasm.

Mrs. Josephus Daniels, wife of the secretary of navy, took a house at 1720 Massachusetts avenue as a recreation clubhouse for the navy women. They formed a battalion which was drilled by marine sergeants.

The women were correctly called Yeoman (F), not "Yeomenettes," as we sometimes hear the term today. The way they came into the navy was this:

"Is there any law that says a yeoman must be a man?" Secretary Daniels asked his legal advisers. The answer was no, but only men had been enlisted up to then. The law did not say "male."

"Then enroll women in the Naval Reserve as Yeomen," Secretary Daniels said, "and we will have the best clerical assistance the country can provide."

The navy got a total of 11,000 Yeomen (F) by calling women to the Naval Reserve, mostly to take care of clerical work at the navy department in Washington. Some Yeomen (F) were translators, some were draftsmen, fingerprinters, camouflage designers, recruiting agents, or workers in the Bureau of Medicine and Surgery or in Naval Intelligence.

Westbrook Women Have Luncheon

Luncheon was served at 1 o'clock Wednesday afternoon to the women members of Westbrook Country club. Mrs. Ruth E. Grimm was hostess for the day. Bridge games at 20 tables began at 2 o'clock.

The whistling prize went to a guest from Norwalk. Mrs. C. H. Guy received the high score award and the consolation prize went to Miss Barbara Brunner. The next luncheon-bridge will take place on Sept. 9 with Mrs. Gene H. Zediker as hostess.

Your Child On Farm May Face Danger

By GARRY C. MYERS, Ph.D.

Despite lack of rubber and gas, many parents are taking their children to the country. Some other parents are sending their children to visit relatives on farms for the summer. And a number of youths from town or city are going to farms to work.

Certain hazards face these children. When you go with your young child to a farm look for a few common dangers right away, for the average youngster may face them within half an hour of his arrival. First find out if there is any unguarded spring or pool of water, or well or cistern without a securely fastened cover. If the farmer is operating a mowing machine or reaper, keep the child away from it.

The visiting tot and runabout needs to be told about horses. Running behind the heels of a horse otherwise gentle might frighten the horse and cause it to kick.

Children from 6 to 12 like to romp about the barn, climb and jump or slide down on the hay there. In doing so without proper guidance or caution they can fall through the partly-covered floors or down the "hay-hole."

Whether you go with your children or send them to the farm you will want to know if the drinking water is safe. Has it been analyzed by the public health department? A safe precaution, especially for the youths who go to farms to live and work, is to have inoculation against typhoid fever before leaving home.

HOROSCOPE

For Friday, August 28

A DAY of outstanding, possibly dramatic and spectacular events is forecast by the lunar and mutual aspects of major planets. Excitement, commotion, disruption and upheaval may descend from hidden, surprising and unexpected sources, with definite demand for resourcefulness, if a splendid opportunity, of great scope and possibilities, is to be firmly grasped and engineered to high goals.

Those whose birthday it is may find themselves confronted by a year of remarkable, spectacular, intriguing and challenging circumstances, which must be bravely, decisively and crushingly manipulated if a very real, desirable, and worthwhile opportunity for high achievement, honors, expansive and far-reaching good fortune and happy destiny are to be attained. But this will take great skill, ingenuity, acumen and sagacity, as well as alertness to deception, fraud, underhand and unscrupulous attack, both open and subtle.

"Pitfalls of Love"

(A Sequel to Marriage Meddlers)

By DELE GARRISON

I saw that Mary was tremendously excited and thrilled by the real life melodrama in which she was playing so important a role, so I played up to her.

"You know where Stev has hidden the paper my father wants?" I repeated excitedly.

"Yep," she said, imitting the conception of a New England spinster's monosyllabic talk as interpreted by cinema character actresses. "I know exady where it is, and if he doesn't change its hiding place before he gets up here, I may be able to get it. But it's the fear of his chaging his cache that's worrying me."

"Then my father wold better hurry," I said, and overthe phone I received his promise to come immediately.

When he came he went directly to the point.

"Where did he hide the paper?" he asked.

"In his shoe," Mary returned promptly. "I didn't see him put it there, of course, but I'm sure there's where it is."

He turned to the telephone, asked for a room number and spoke quickly:

"Please attend to that laundry for me," he said. "Pay especial attention to the socks," he said, and I knew he had used a code of some sort.

"What did you see?" he then asked Mary.

"First I saw another man slip a paper to him."

"Ah-h!" my father said softly "Go on, please."

Is Handed a Paper.

"Steve excused himself and went to the back of the restaurant," Mary continued. "With my pocket mirror and two big ones on the walls, I could lamp Steve's every movement. I saw the other man walk past Steve as if he didn't know him, and pretend to bump against him. I don't believe anybody else saw him slip the paper to Steve, for it was a mighty neat piece of work If I hadn't been watching for just such a stunt, I'd never have caught it."

"Yes, yes," my father said impatiently. "I can well understand your excitement When did you first notice his shoes?"

"In my little mirror, on his way back to the table," she answered. "I'd been watching for him to leave the men's washroom, for I didn't know but he might run out on me and send word by the waiter that he'd been called away. That's been done before, you know, but never to me."

Her flashing eyes emphasized her words. I could not imagine any man daring to subject Mary to such humiliation.

Give-Away Glances.

"While Steve was walking toward the table I first caught the idea," she said. "He generally strides along like the band leader of a regiment. This time he kept looking down at his shoes, then up again, as if he hadn't meant the glances, but couldn't help himself, if you know what I mean."

My father and I both nodded assent.

"Yes, we know," I said, hoping by hurrying her to ease my father's tension.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

"The Authority on Authorities"

FREAKS ARE DANGEROUS

Hands with terrifically long suits are full of dynamite. When one suit is unbalanced to a great degree, all other suits are likely to be similar. Consequently, as veteran cardsmen have learned, it is wise not to bid too high on them. A first round ruff, or the breaking of communications between the declarer's hand and the dummy, may cause apparently sure things to become impossibilities.

	♠ 6 3 2 ♥ A K Q J 10 7 5 4 ♦ 6 3 ♣ None

(Dealer: South North-South vulnerable.)

South	West	North	East
3 ♠	4 ♣	4 ♥	Pass
4 NT	Dbl	5 ♥	Pass

Queer bidding! But then it was queer at every table of the tournament where this hand was dealt. In nearly all cases it wound up at 6-Spades or 7-Spades. One North player got into 7-Hearts, and was set by a spade lead, ruffed by West.

Various things happened to the Spade contracts. Where West made his normal lead of the club K, it was a breeze for South, who merely ruffed that trick in dummy and then ran plenty of spades and hearts.

Two of the West players decided to lead a heart against the spade contract, reckoning there was a good chance for a first round ruff by East, who might well be blank in the suit. As it developed, this did not produce the expected ruff, but it did destroy communication between the dummy and South's hand. One South managed to make 6-Spades after that lead. He won with the heart A, led to the diamond A, ruffed the club 2 with the spade 2, led the heart K, over-ruffed the spade 4 with the 8, ruffed the club 9 with the spade 3, led the heart Q and over-ruffed the spade 7 with the 9, ruffed the club 10 with the spade 6, led the heart J and over-ruffed the spade 10 with the J, cashed the spade A, K, Q and 5, and gave up the diamond 10 at the end.

At the other table, where a heart was led to the A, South decided to try for a trump split, playing the A and K, intending to use the 5 to the 6 for re-entry to dummy to run the hearts. When the split did not develop, he managed to ruff one club in the dummy, but wound up losing two clubs and a diamond, being down two on his small slam bid.

Tomorrow's Problem.

If West bids clubs and East spades during the auction, how can North and South, by proper use of the Blackwood convention, find out how high they can safely go in spades on this deal?

200 DELEGATES AT BRETHRENS' 54TH MEETING

Ashland Conference to Close With College Banquet Friday Night.

ASHLAND—Approximately 200 delegates are attending the 54th General Conference of the Brethren church being held at Ashland college this week. The conference opened Monday night and the first business session was held Tuesday. At that time J. Garber Drushal, professor of speech at Capital university in Columbus, was elected moderator succeeding Dr. E. G. Mason, president of Ashland collegt. Drushal served as vice moderator during the past year.

Election of other officers was continued until Wednesday which resulted in C. Stewart of Bryan being chosen as vice moderator, Leslie Lindower of Ashland as secretary; Lester King of Ashland as assistant secretary; D. F. Benshoff of Johnstown, Pa., as treasurer, and W. S. Crick of Johnstown, Pa., as statistician.

Chosen for the committee on committees, the most influential body in the conference, were E L. Miller of Maurertown, Va., E. M. Riddle of Louisville, and R. F. Porte of Warsaw, Ind.

Also held Wednesday was a luncheon of the Women's Missionary society at the Third Street Church of the Brethren with more than two hundred ladies from local Missionary groups in attendance. Laymen of the church had a luncheon meeting at Allen Hall on the college campus.

One of the high-lights of the conference will be the Ashland college banquet to be held Friday evening at five o'clock at the Third Street Church of the Brethren.

ASHLAND — Announcement of the date of Sept. 3 for the marriage of Miss Elizabeth McCray of Cleveland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. W. McCray of Ashland, to William McKenzie of Cleveland was made at a dessert-bridge given at the Ashland Country club by Miss Martha Downs. The party included a surprise apartment shower for Miss McCray and the announcement of her approaching marriage came in a telegram to the 29 guests present.

The Uintah mountain range in Utah contains more than 1,000 lakes.

APPROVE NAMES FOR 8 VESSELS

Maritime Commission Okays Historical Names For New Ships.

(By United Press)

PORTLAND, Ore. — Names of eight more Oregon historical characters have been approved by the maritime commission for the names of vessels scheduled for launching this summer at Oregon shipbuilding corporation.

The names are: James W. Nesmith, United States senator and democratic friend of Abraham Lincoln; John C. Ainsworth, pioneer river captain and financier; William P. Mcarthur, navy commander who first charted the Oregon coast and Columbia river; Eugene Skinner, pioneer settler after whom Eugene, Ore., was named; Daniel H. Lownsdale, pioneer real estate man and manufacturer; Elijah White, missionary; Harry Lane, mayor of Portland and United States senator; and George Chamberlain, governor and senator.

Other names approved by the commission include those of four members of President Lincoln's cabinet — Jonathon Harrington, William H. Seward, Gideon Wells and Edwin M. Stanton.

3,000-MILE TRIP WAS FUTILE

M'KEESPORT, Pa. —(UP)— Edward R. Kerns, 27, traveled 3,000 miles from Venezuela to here to be drafted—only to be deferred for faulty vision. He was working for a Venezuela oil company when he received his draft notice.

68TH YEAR IN BUSINESS

TIFFIN, O. —(UP)— Clinton H. Baumgardner, 78, oldest Tiffin merchant, has begun his 68th year in retail business here. His career started in 1875, when he became a grocery clerk.

Brazilians, at War, Salute U. S. Allies

Waving the flags of Brazil and the United States, citizens of Rio de Janeiro throng the Brazilian capital's streets in a noisy demonstration of loyalty to their country and her new Allies, the United Nations. This picture shows part of the crowd in front of the United States embassy. Brazil went to war against Germany and Italy because of the many sinkings of Brazilian ships by Axis submarines.

Parking Meter Has Everything, Even Feeds Oats

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y.—(INS)—Facetious or not, the city board of estimate must give consideration to a letter, referred to it by the common council, which proposes adoption of a parking meter geared to accommodate virtually every contingency created by the tire and gas shortage.

The letter, signed by Ernest R. Forthhoffer, an official of the chamber of commerce, was read at the council session at the moment of the most tense debate over the question of retaining the parking meter which has been in use here experimentally for some months.

"As I am somewhat of an inventor myself," it read, "I wish you would defer action. I am about to invent a combination parking meter and hitching-post that will park three cars or horses, instead of two, and in case of violation will lock the car fast to the curb until the violator has deposited a silver dollar in the meter.

"If used as a hitching-post, insertion of a quarter in the meter will provide oats and hay at a substantial revenue.

"As long as this meter business ha only gotten to the experimental stage and is not yet in production, why not give a local inventor a chance to try his machine — when he has one?"

THEATERS

"Success" Satire.

The misadventures of a gangling country lad with no ambition except to let well enough alone furnishes fun in Henry Fonda's new picture, "The Magnificent Dope," at the Ohio. Things really begin to happen when the bucolic youth runs afoul of Don Ameche as the fast-talking operator of a "success" school. But glitter doesn't impress Fonda. Lynn Bari does, however, as the girl who publicizes success in eight easy lessons. Edward Everett Horton and George Barbier are in the picture.

Mystery Comedy.

Michael Shayne, the screen's ace detective, solves a murder mystery in the comedy, "The Man Who Wouldn't Die," showing at the Madison. Lloyd Nolan plays the detective role and Marjorie Weaver, Helene Reynolds and Henry Wilcoxon are others in the cast. Charlie Chaplin's picture, "The Gold Rush," a re-issue, shares the bill. A narration by Chaplin himself has been added since the picture was originally filmed and music is introduced.

Fight Story.

The day to day routine of a group of prize fighters is interrupted when a show girl without funds arrives in their midst in the Ritz attraction, "Sunday Punch." William Lundigan and Dan Dailey, jr., portray the fighters who sit up and take notice when the girl, played by Jean Rogers, arrives. Guy Kibbee, J. Carrol Naish and Sam Leverne are in the cast. "Almost Married" the second picture, has Jane Frazee and Robert Paige.

Pioneer Thriller.

Story of the pioneer freight lines which blazed their way across the wilds of the west, "Arizona Cyclone," showing at the Park, features Johnny Mack Brown. The latter plays freight handler whose life and enterprise are threatened by an unscrupulous banker and a gang of desperadoes. Kathryn Adams, Fuzzy Knight and Nell O'Day are in the picture. "Confessions of Boston Blackie," with Chester Morris is the second attraction.

Sport Podge

by REX HESS

Pittsburgh sport writers have just about decided that Johnny Barrett, former Mansfield Red Sox outfield star, isn't another Paul Waner after all.

And they know for sure there are no other Big or Little Poisons in that light-hitting Pirate outfield array.

Barrett may still run and throw and field with the speed and accuracy of the Waners, and tear up the base paths with all his old fire, but his present .251 batting average would never have made either of the Poison brothers happy.

* * *

This week's Sporting News says Manager Frankie Frisch is very much disappointed in the failure of his outfielders to live up to the promise they showed last spring, and that he'll bring in all the hitting gardeners he can find in the Pirate system as soon as the farm clubs can let them go.

Jimmy Wasdel, is now leading the Pirate outfielders in hitting with an unlusty .260, so Barrett is still near the top—of a low ceiling.

Although no Poison is Johnny Barrett,
I guess that we can grin and bear it.

Our Lefty Bob the Irish Kuzava is running into difficulty collecting his 20th, or even 19th hurling victory for Charleston in the Mid-Atlantic league.

After scoring his eighth shutout of the season in turning in his 18th win, Bob suffered a 5-1 defeat against Springfield in his next start, and then wildness caused him to drop a three-hitter to Dayton, 3-1.

Maybe the Sporting News jinxed him. Last week it had a story about his sensational record. It had a similar story once before and Bob immediately went into a two-game losing streak.

Ed the Mighty Man Mutryn is still clouting home runs for Wausau in the Northern league. He hit with the bases loaded on Aug. 17, and came back on the 19th with another circuit smash. And Wausau won both games. They're in third place.

And former Mansfield Westinghouse star Wayne Blackburn scored the winning run in the longest game played this season at Indianapolis. He led off with a walk in the 13th, went to second on a sacrifice, and scored on Johnny McCarthy's double.

Ex-Mansfield Brave Hank Edwards drove in a run as Baltimore ended a nightmare of 53 straight scoreless innings on Aug. 18. And Ex-Brave Steve Gromek won one game and lost one for Baltimore last week.

Bill Salem of last year's Braves smacked two doubles and a triple as Camp Perry won a 13-0 victory over Findlay Eagles recently in another shutout for Chuck Cronin, manager of the 1941 Fostoria club.

Cards Put On Finish Battle

Win Today Would Cut Dodger Lead to 3½.

By JUDSON BAILEY
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

THE St. Louis Cardinals have shown the rest of the National league they aren't kidding about making a finish fight for the pennant the Brooklyn Dodgers confidently thought they had cinched.

A tremendous stake rested on today's twilight finale of the four-game series, because the Redbirds needed to take it to get the Dodgers really tottering. But win or lose the Cardinals are making good their truculent claims that they would battle till the schedule runs out.

A few weeks ago Brooklyn had a ten-game lead, but the Cardinals swept the first three installments of their four-game series with the National league champions in St. Louis to whittle this down to 4½.

Another St Louis victory would shrink this to 3½ games and throw the race wide open. A triumph for the Dodgers would leave the Brooks with a comfortable 5½ game lead.

The Cardinals are waging a lone fight, for although they have won 11 and lost eight against the Dodgers this year, no other club has given Brooklyn as much as an even battle.

This has not daunted the Redbirds, however, as they proved by capturing a second straight 2-1 extra-inning decision over the Dodgers yesterday for Johnny Beazley's 16th success.

Like the senior circuit's red hot Cardinals, the Boston Red Sox also still have time to cause some commotion in the American league.

Joe Cronin's crew has won nine straight games and 15 of the last 16 to shave the lead of the New York Yankees to 7½ games.

Boston humbled the Cleveland Indians again yesterday, 4-1, on the three-hit hurling of Bill Butland.

Meanwhile the Yankees dropped a 5-3 affair to the Chicago White Sox, who in their final appearance of the year in New York won their first game in the stadium.

In the only other American league action, the Detroit Tigers threatened Cleveland's berth in the first division by taking a double-header from the Philadelphia Athletics, 1-0 and 4-2.

This lifted the Tigers within two games of the Indians, who have lost 14 contests while winning four.

The third-place New York Giants of the National league snapped their five-game losing streak by battering the Cincinnati Reds for 15 hits and an 11-2 triumph credited to Bill Lohrman, the nemesis who has beaten Cincinnati five times this year.

The Phils and Chicago Cubs divided a double-header with the tailenders taking the first game, 3-2, in 11 innings, and the Cubs capturing the nightcap, 3-0.

Wasylik Selects Tentative Squad

BUCYRUS—From a selection of 53 candidates for the Redmen squad Coach Nick Wasylik today announced his tentative first and second team prospects.

Several new players are among the candidates for the first two teams including several promising sophomores, Wasylik stated.

John Shuck and Bob Blackburn and Harold Smith are possible candidates for the end positions and Charles Gabriel and Jim Gatchell and Bob Shaner are fighting for the tackle posts.

* * *

Dick Kent, Rittenour, Rod Teets and Driscoll are looking toward the right guard and in the backfield Clayton will probably get the quarterback position; Davis, left half, C. Shuck righ half and Artie Teynor and Volk fighting for the full back spot.

RIDES AT CAMDEN

CAMDEN, N. J. —(INS)— Eddie Arcaro, leading stake rider in 1941, today was slated to make his debut at Garden State park by piloting Warren Wright's famed Whirlaway in the $10,000 added Trenton handicap Saturday.

APPLESEED SQUAD GETS CALISTHENICS

Coach Guy VanNostrand issued a call for his Johnny Appleseed junior high school football squad to report at the school field Friday at 2 p. m. to begin calisthenic drills preparatory to starting actual practice on Sept. 1.

At a recent get-together meeting of the squad 30 boys turned out and VanNostrand expects more to report later.

Tennis Title Match Booked

Gregoria-Fisher Play In Girls' Finals Sunday.

First championship match in the annual News-Journal city tennis tournament will be played Sunday at 2:30 p. m. at Maple Lake courts when Mary Gregoria defends the girls' singles title against the second successive bid of Meredith Fisher.

The two girls met in the finals a year ago and staged an interesting match which went the full three-set distance. Rules for junior championship play call for best two out of three sets, but it has been suggested that all championship matches in the N-J tourney this year be played on the same two-out-three plan to speed up the matches and add to the interest of spectators.

* * *

Both the Gregoria and Fisher girls are still in the running in the women's singles and the early playing of their girls' division title match will permit them to give all their attention after this week to play in the older tourney.

Mary Gregoria went into the finals of the girls' tourney with a three-set victory over Betty Wentz, 4-6, 6-4, 6-3.

The tournament in all divisions is moving smoothly along for championship play over the Labor Day week-end.

In the men's tournament yesterday Gene Rudolph and Watty Slabaugh went into the semi-finals of the singles division, Rudolph defeating Chuck Franzen 6-0, 7-5, and Slabaugh winning from M. L. Stearns 6-0, 6-2.

In men's doubles, Lowell Bourns and Slabaugh entered the finals with a 6-4, 6-4 victory over Sam Campbell and Ruhland Isaly.

Both Mary Gregoria and Meredith Fisher advanced to the semi-finals of the women's single, Mary defeating Mrs. Wendell Bell 5-7, 6-2, 6-1, and Meredith winning from Mary Ettinger 6-1, 8-6.

Muriel Fisher and Helen Myers were forced to call their quarter-final match because of darkness with sets at one each, and with Mrs. Fisher holding a slight edge at 7-5, 4-6, 7-1. They arranged to complete the match Saturday afternoon.

Trapshoot Classic Scheduled Today

VANDALIA—(AP)—The nation's No. 1 trapshooting event—the Grand American Handicap, with a guaranteed purse of $10,000—gets under way today.

The class and team titles, held over from yesterday because of darkness, will be decided first, however.

The doubles championship is up for decision, too, before the "roaring grand," which is scheduled over the 200-target route this year for the first time since it was inaugurated in 1900.

* * *

A huge field of 770, largest in the event's history, failed to fire the full 200-target program yesterday in the class races, 280 still having a portion of the route to go when darkness fell.

At least 800, and perhaps 1,000 shooters were expected to make the race for trapdom's greatest prize.

Fergusons Capture Softball Crown

COLUMBUS—(AP)—The Columbus Auditors wore the Ohio softball crown today. They will represent the state in the national regional tournament at Lakeside this week-end.

The Auditors blanked the Portsmouth Barklow Engineers, 2-0, in the championship tilt last night, scoring both runs in the first inning on a walk, a double and a single.

Warren Gerber pitched a one-hitter for the Auditors and struck out 12 batters.

* * *

FLORIDA GIRL WINS NATIONAL NET TITLE

PHILADELPHIA — (U.P.) — Top-seeded Doris Hart of Miami, Fla., won the United States girls' lawn tennis singles championship yesterday, defeating Marcheta Donnelly of Venice, Calif., 6-1, 6-3.

Miss Donnelly playing with Barbara Ann Brooke, Pasadena, Calif., won the doubles title from Judy Atterbury, Great Neck, N. Y., and Margaret Cary, San Diego, Calif., 6-3, 6-3.

Fight Results

OAKLAND, Cal.—(AP)—Henry Armstrong, 144, Los Angeles, knocked out Rodolfo Ramirez, 145, Mexico (8).

Other Falkenburgs Star

The Falkenburg brothers, Bob and Tom, have been getting most of the sport page headlines with their tennis prowess, but their movie actress sister, Jinx, and their mother, Mrs. Eugene Falkenburg, hope to prove that the distaff side of the Falkenburg family knows its tennis, too. Jinx and her mother are entered as a doubles combination in the national tournament in progress at Forest Hills, L. I. Top photo shows Jinx, right, and her mother in a practice doubles match. Bottom view shows Jinx wiping perspiration from her mother's face after a strenuous match.

Indians Fear 2nd Division

Defeats at Boston Send Tribe Tumbling.

BOSTON—(AP)—Beaten in the first three games of their current eastern road trip, the Cleveland Indians today were uncomfortably close to the second division for the first time since the early weeks of the season.

Manager Lou Boudreau consistently has asked no more than that the club finish among the first four teams, but a 4 to 1 loss to the Red Sox yesterday left the Tribe only two games in front of the fifth-place Detroit Tigers, who won both ends of a double-header at Philadelphia.

Tomorrow the Indians open a two-game series in the town of the tough Yankees.

With the rest of the American league clubs idle today, Jim Bagby, seeking his 15th victory, has a chance to boost the Indians a half-game in the finale of the series with Boston. But he faces the redoubtable Tex Hughson, who has won 17 against three defeats. Another Cleveland loss would drop the club two and a half games behind the third-place St. Louis Browns.

Bill Butland limited the Tribe to three hits—two singles and a double—in helping the Red Sox to their ninth straight victory yesterday.

The Tribe's lone run came in the first inning with two out when Ken Keltner singled, stole second and scored on Jeff Heath's double.

Mel Harder, who in seven innings yielded seven of Boston's eight hits, was charged with the loss.

It was the 18th straight game in which the Indians failed to score more than three runs.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

NEW YORK—(Wide World)—If the Yankees should decide to break up their No. 1 farm club at Newark, there'd be $160,000 in it for them . . . The Dodgers are supposedly ready to pay $50,000 for George Stirnweiss, who is more likely to wind up playing third base for the Yanks. Other unofficial estimates on what the Bears would bring are $25,000 each for Pitcher Tommy Byrne and Shortstop Bill Johnson and $20,000 apiece for Infielder Hank Majeski and Outfielders Russ Derry and Bud Metheny. . . . It's an even trade for golf in Atlanta. Capt. Bobby Jones, now on duty with the army interceptor command, has been house-hunting in Jacksonville, Fla., but Johnny Bulla, who gave up pro golf to become an airline co-pilot, has settled in Bobby's home town . . . Maxie Shapiro, who fights Cleo Shans at the Garden tomorrow, wanted to be a ball player until Bill Terry told him he was too small for the big leagues.

WAILING WALL.

The coaching staff of the all-star team at Chicago is about to read Homer Norton out of the union because he is picking the collegians to breeze through the Bears. . . . Head Coach Bob Zuppke says the college squad lacks backfield power, Burt Ingwersen thinks they haven't well-rounded backfield strength, Lynn Waldorf hopes they can keep the score down to 50 points, Lon Stiner thinks he ought to be at home, and Frank Leahy says he's too sick to think.

Birds Threaten Brews Once More

The Columbus Redbirds, defending champions, who have been bouncing in and out of the American association lead in recent weeks, again are in position to take over the pace.

They moved within a half game of first place Milwaukee last night when the Brewers stumbled before last place St. Paul. Toledo, too, reasserted itself after an extended slump, but still is five games from the top.

Milwaukee's league lead diminished as the St. Paul Saints staged a seven-run rally in the eighth inning to defeat the Brewers 9 to 3.

Columbus won behind the excellent pitching of George Munger who limited Indianapolis to three hits for a 3-0 victory, his 15th of the season.

Minneapolis jolted third place Kansas City 6 to 4, and Toledo downed Louisville 8-0, to pull within a game of the fourth-place Colonels.

ARMY, NAVY DIVIDE $75,556 FROM GAME

NEW YORK—(INS)—The army and navy relief funds will split $75,556.50, the total net receipts from the Yankee-Washington doubleheader last Sunday at which Babe Ruth and Walter Johnson appeared, it was revealed today.

Gross receipts from the game were $83,112.15 and federal taxes were $7,555.65.

Handicap Golf Tourneys Held

Semi-Finals Reached In President's Cup.

SHELBY—The annual Ladies' Handicap golf tournament will get underway Friday during the weekly Ladies' Day program at the Shelby Country club.

Eighteen holes will be played this week and 18 more on the following Friday. A pot-luck luncheon will be served both days.

The Men's Handicap tournament started this week with Herbert Poland, jr., and Carl Daugherty tied for the low score of 72 for the first 18 holes. The remaining 18 holes in this tournament will be played Sunday. Forty-seven entered the event.

Harry Smith is playing Bob Campbell while Bob Daugherty meets Dow Horner in the semi-finals of the championship flight in the President's Cup golf tournament for men. The semi-finals in the second flight brings Bob Green up against Bradley Lewis and Dr. Glenn Stewart against Carl Daugherty. L. A. Dennis defeated Oren Fulton to win the third flight honors.

The feature of this week's program is the "stag" clam bake held at the club house yesterday. Golfing and cards were the diversions for the program. The clam dinner was served to some 157 persons.

CANNONBALL BIDS FOR 3-YEAR-OLD HONORS

MILWAUKEE, Wis—(U.P.)—Cannonball, sleek trotter owned by George F. Benham, New York, entered his bid today for the distinction of being the top three-year-old trotter of the year.

The big son of Guy Day, piloted by Harry Whitney of Aiken, S. C., won the $10,313 American trotting stake yesterday upsetting such distinguished competition as Ambassador, winner of the Hambeltonian, and Colby Hanover, the also-ran with a reputation. Cannonball won in two heats with times of 2.04 and 2.04½.

Moorhead Gets Title Chance

Meets Gene Zediker In Westbrook Finals.

Recently taken into the army, and home on 14-day furlough, Bob Moorhead gets a chance to win again the Westbrook Country club golf championship he held in 1940.

Sunday he meets Gene Zediker in a 36-hole final match in the championship flight at Westbrook, with 18 holes scheduled in the morning and 18 in the afternoon.

In semi-finals of the tournament Moorhead defeated H. Sotzen 5-4, and Zediker won from M. D. Ward, jr., by the same margin.

Championship matches in other flights are scheduled for Labor day play over the 18-hole route.

In the second flight Bob Glassner meets M. W. Hieber. Glassner won his semi-final match from J. A. Casperson, 3-1, while Hieber advanced through default by J. A. Vassar.

Third flight championship lies between Paul J. Cropper and H. R. Talmadge. Cropper defeated J. O. Hanley 5-4, and Talmadge eliminated J. A. Sullivan 3-1 in the semi-finals.

One semi-final match remains to be played in the fourth flight, Dr. W. Wilson meeting A. L. Smith. The winner will meet J. E. Hugo, sr., in the finals, Hugo having won from his son, J. E. Hugo, jr., 3-2 in the semi-finals.

Last Twilight Game Scheduled

Mansfield Travelers play their last twilight game of the season at the Fairground tomorrow evening at 6 o'clock when they meet the strong Plymouth Locomotives, composed mainly of Mansfield players.

Either Bill Martin or young Jack Elliott will hurl for the Travelers, while Duke Weber, Bob Winbigler or Dawson will chuck for the Locomotives.

PAM—Danger. By A. W. Brewerton

IT'S REALLY AMAZING HOW WELL I GOT ALONG WITH MR. BRONNER'S WORK TODAY!
I WAS JITTERY AT FIRST—FOR FEAR HE WOULDN'T LIKE ME OR MY WORK—BECAUSE SO MUCH DEPENDED ON MY MAKING GOOD!
BUT HE WAS VERY PATIENT AND KIND; DICTATES SLOWLY. I REALLY THINK HE WAS WELL PLEASED
BUT DAVID, SMOKING A NIGHTCAP CIGARETTE, IS TROUBLED!
I JUST CAN'T SHAKE OFF THE FEELING THAT I'VE PLACED PAM IN GREAT DANGER!
AND DAVID IS RIGHT!

LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE—"We Don't Talk About That." By Harold Gray

WAL, YOUNG FELLER, YOU SPIK ENGLISH PURTY GOOD FOR A FURRINER-
MY FATHER WAS DOCTOR OF LANGUAGES IN THE UNIVERSITY-HE SPOKE NINE TONGUES-HE TAUGHT ME ENGLISH-
8-27-42
DO TELL--SURE MUST HAVE BEEN A SMART FELLER--I HEAR THE SOLDIERS KILLED HIM--HOW'D THEY DO IT?
IF YOU DO NOT MIND, WE WILL DISCUSS ANOTHER SUBJECT--OR NOTHING-
EH? OH, SURE! SURE! I DIDN'T MEAN NOTHIN', YOUNGSTER-
HOW OLD DIDJA SAY THAT KID IS?
OH, EIGHT OR TEN-WHY?
OH, NOTHIN'--HE JEST SORTA CHILLS ME! THAT'S ALL--BUT FROM WHAT I HEAR HE'S BEEN AROUND CONSIDERABLE. FOR HIS AGE--IT SHOWS!

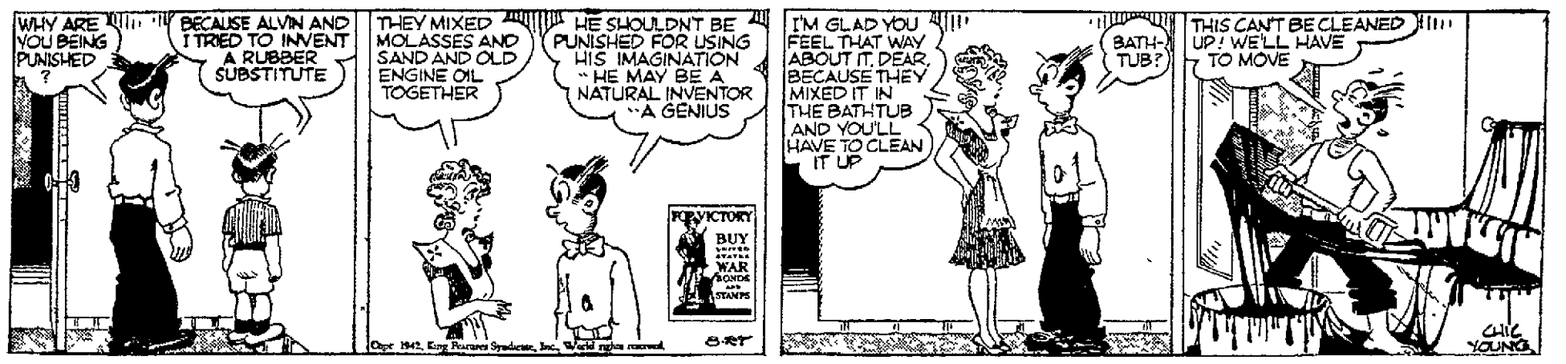
BLONDIE— Rubber Genius Turns Sap! By Chic Young



WHY ARE YOU BEING PUNISHED?
BECAUSE ALVIN AND I TRIED TO INVENT A RUBBER SUBSTITUTE
THEY MIXED MOLASSES AND SAND AND OLD ENGINE OIL TOGETHER
HE SHOULDN'T BE PUNISHED FOR USING HIS IMAGINATION "HE MAY BE A NATURAL INVENTOR "A GENIUS
FOR VICTORY BUY UNITED STATES WAR BONDS AND STAMPS
I'M GLAD YOU FEEL THAT WAY ABOUT IT, DEAR, BECAUSE THEY MIXED IT IN THE BATH-TUB AND YOU'LL HAVE TO CLEAN IT UP BATH-TUB?
THIS CAN'T BE CLEANED UP! WE'LL HAVE TO MOVE

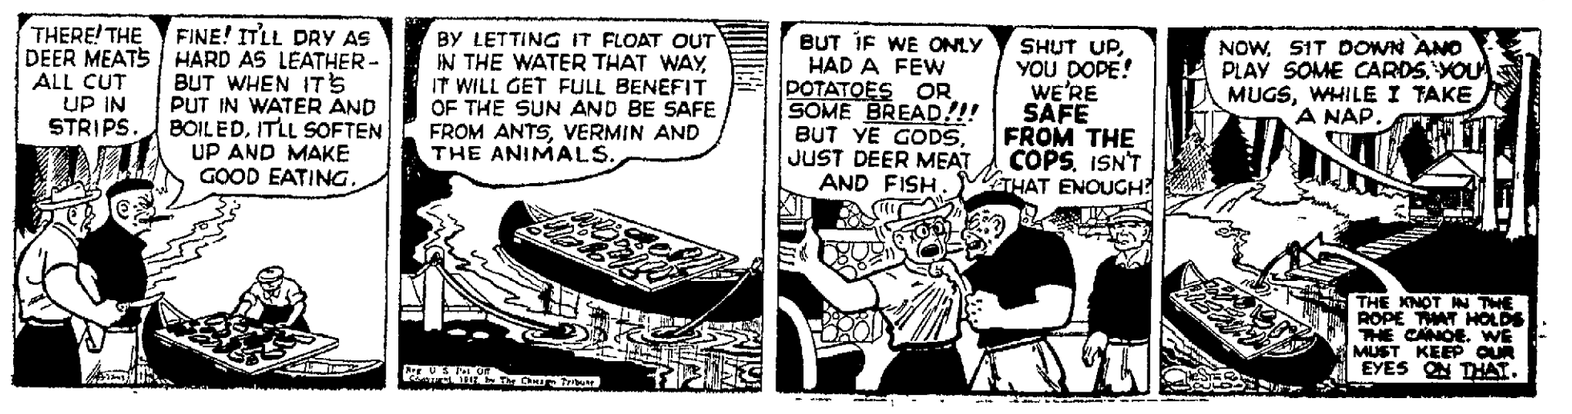
'CAUSE WE'RE SCINTILLATIN', CAPTIVATIN', DEVASTATIN', SYNCOPATIN'-ALL THEATRICAL STARS!!
PSST-T!
WHAT'SA BIG IDEA, GUMPIE? DON'T YOU KNOW AN ARTIST LIKE ME--
LISTEN-CLARISSA'S DUE TO FOLLOW YOU IN THIS ACT-AND WE CAN'T GET HER TO PICK UP HER CUE! SHE JUST SITS THERE BY THE HEATER-CRYING!

DICK TRACY—Beefing. By Chester Gould



THERE! THE DEER MEAT'S ALL CUT UP IN STRIPS.
FINE! IT'LL DRY AS HARD AS LEATHER-BUT WHEN IT'S PUT IN WATER AND BOILED, IT'LL SOFTEN UP AND MAKE GOOD EATING.
BY LETTING IT FLOAT OUT IN THE WATER THAT WAY, IT WILL GET FULL BENEFIT OF THE SUN AND BE SAFE FROM ANTS, VERMIN AND THE ANIMALS.
BUT IF WE ONLY HAD A FEW POTATOES OR SOME BREAD!!! BUT YE GODS, JUST DEER MEAT AND FISH.
SHUT UP, YOU DOPE! WE'RE SAFE FROM THE COPS, ISN'T THAT ENOUGH?
NOW, SIT DOWN AND PLAY SOME CARDS, YOU MUGS, WHILE I TAKE A NAP.
THE KNOT IN THE ROPE THAT HOLDS THE CANOE, WE MUST KEEP OUR EYES ON THAT.

SOLDIER WEAVES

Spends Evening In Army Camp In Making Rugs.

CAMP CALLAN, Cal.—(U P)—A pastime guaranteed to "pass time" in quantity is that of Pvt. Haig M. Dinihanian, 25-year-old Portland, Ore., soldier who spends his evenings here at rug-weaving on a small "bed size" frame he has constructed.

Dinihanian, who learned the trade from his father at the age of six, fashions approximately 150 Sehna knots per hour, that number roughly equalling one square inch of rug.

STOCK LEADERS APPEAR MIXED IN DAY'S MART

Decrease of Petroleum Stock During June Reported at 9,224,000 Barrels.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK — Leading stocks were no worse than slightly mixed in today's market.

Up a shade were Santa Fe, Atlantic Coast Line, Du Pont, Union Carbide, American Smelting and Johns-Mansville. Small declines were posted for Chrysler, Lorillard, United Aircraft, Texas company and Southern Railway.

Holders of oils noted the compilation of the Bureau of Mines indicating a decrease in petroleum stocks during June of $9,224,000 barrels. As of June 30 supplies totalled 515,132,000 barrels, a drop of 5,243,000 from the like date a year ago.

Studied was the Dun & Bradstreet survey disclosing that bank clearings in 23 cities for the week ended Aug. 26, while well under those of the preceding week, continued to exceed the comparable 1941 period. The year-to-year upturn amounted to 5.7 per cent and the recession from the week before was 17.4 per cent.

DENIED FOOD TO AMERICANS

only one-third of the fuel needed to heat its buildings during the severest part of the winter.

3. Japanese refusal to permit anything or anyone to enter or leave the embassy between Dec. 14 and 18, at a time when the Tokyo press was claiming that American diplomats had expressed "gratitude for the kind treatment being received."

4. Police refusal to furnish escorts, upon which they insisted, for embassy cars seeking to obtain adequate supplies of fresh food and other necessities at embassy expense in Tokyo. Hence the cars couldn't go out.

5. Some members of the embassy were forced to go for months without a change of clothes because the police refused to let them get possessions from their homes outside the embassy compound.

6. Police insistence that everyone remain within the embassy at all times, despite the inadequate accommodations. Two staff members, therefore, slept on cots in Grew's office.

7. Occupation by the police of the home of Smith Hutton, naval attache.

8. Refusal to remove embassy garbage, thus endangering the health of those interned.

9. Extreme delay in furnishing medicines.

10. Refusal to provide any facilities for exercise.

11. Refusal to permit an embassy representative to visit staff members in hospitals, where several were seriously ill.

Japanese foreign office representatives admitted that the embassy was not receiving "reciprocal treatment," but appeared pleased by their inability to obtain the co-operation of the home office and police in improving conditions.

After Swiss diplomats protested fruitlessly for more than a month, police finally relaxed some restrictions and even withdrew uniformed policemen, but never provided any food.

After the American air raid on Tokyo April 18, Japanese authorities warned that another one would result in cutting off even of supplies for which the embassy itself had finally arranged.

Not until Jan. 18 was the embassy permitted to have movies and engage in outdoor recreation. The internees were required to perform janitor duties in the embassy buildings and Grew's private secretary, Robert Feary, former Harvard football player, ran the embassy laundry.

The treatment received by the Americans was similar to that of even the representatives of countries which had merely broken off diplomatic relations.

RECEIVE BULK OF WAR WORK

Eight States Get More Than 50 Per Cent of Contracts.

WASHINGTON — (U.P.) — More than 50 per cent of the nearly $800,000,000 in war contracts distributed between June, 1940, and June, 1942, went to companies in only eight states, the War Production Board's statistics division revealed today.

A table of contracts revealed that Michigan, New York, California, Ohio, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Connecticut and Illinois received more than $41,000,000,000 worth. Those states, however, have more than 42 per cent of the nation's population.

Ohio received $1,203,765,000 for aircraft contracts, $106,038,000 for ships, $2,629,871,000 for other supplies and $1,209,451,000 in contracts for facilities to carry out the contract work.

Shelby Merchants Ready To Obey OPA Regulations.

SHELBY — David M. Harrison, price executive from the Columbus offices of OPA, spoke before a city-wide meeting of retailers, explaining that too few merchants were properly complying with the General Maximum Price Regulation, in effect since May 18, which requires merchants to post certain of their merchandise prices and to file considerable information regarding their merchandise stocks with OPA.

Emphasis was placed on the fact that the Office of Price Administration is preparing to "crack down" on the merchants who continue to persist in nonconformity to the regulations. Harrison pointed out that the penalties were severe.

Plans for the compliance drive to be put on by the merchants were explained by George B. Hammond, Columbus, public relations secretary for the Ohio Council of Retail Merchants. The meeting was sponsored by the Shelby Better Business club.

FIVE KILLED

LUBBOCK, Tex—(INS)—The mid-air collision of two twin-motor training planes over the Lubbock flying school in which four army cadets and a civilian were killed was the subject of a military inquiry today.

One cadet in each of the planes was killed, and two cadets and a civilian perished when one of the ships landed on the post tailor shop. A cadet from each of the planes parachuted to safety. None of the dead was from Ohio.
